New York Grand Jury Acts Against Three Youths — Arraignment in Court Tomorrow for Pleading.

ANOTHER CHARGE TO GRAND JURY

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—"Today," said St. Louis and John Hardman, of New York, were indicted today on charges of robbery in the first degree, for which they have admitted participating in a Greenwich Village apartment, the night of Jan. 22.

Another Case to Jury.

Charges of carrying concealed weapons, for which the penalty is as high as seven years, are pending against Dillon and Hardman. On the weapons charge, two were held for the Court of Special Sessions, and their bonds were fixed at $2000 each.

BRITISH CAPTAIN SAVED AT SEA

Once Rescued 11 Americans

Stood by Ship in Distress Two Days — 10 Boats Smashed Before Crew Was Taken Off.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The President Roosevelt's rescue of the crew of the British steamer Antiope is another proof of the adage about bread cast upon the waters. It has become known that Capt. Tose of the Antiope effected a rescue of sailors from an American ship several years ago, in circumstances similar to those in which he and his crew were saved last week.

Two Witnesses Heard.

The witnesses heard by the jury, before it voted the indictments, were Chester Minami, Walter, and George Suzuki, cook, the restaurant. Before entering the grand jury room, Minami told the Post-Dispatch correspondent that he would testify that during the robbery, he drew a pistol and put it against his chest, and took money from his pocket. Suzuki said he would testify that Fuller kept him covered with a pistol in the kitchen. Minami has contended that he was not in the robbery, but that he took the liquor of others during the robbery.

Provided the groundhog puts his head out of his hole at exactly the proper time today, he may see his shadow, for there is a prospect of intermittent sunshine.

On seeing his shadow, so the tradition runs, the groundhog goes back into his hole and winter will continue for six weeks. If it happens to be cloudy at the time he makes his appearance, spring is already close at hand and the groundhog forsakes his burrow for the great outdoors.

CROWN PRINCE OF SWEDEN RESCUES AMERICAN SAILOR

Jumps Into Ice Stockholm Harbor to Haul Man Out, Then Buys Him a Drink.

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 2.—The story of how the Swedish Crown Prince, Gustavus Adolfus, braved the icy waters of Stockholm Harbor and the Swedish liquor laws to rescue from drowning and revive an American sailor has just become public, in spite of the Prince's order that it be kept secret.

While the Prince and his aid were walking along the waterfront they saw a man fall overboard. The Prince jumped in after him, and, being a good swimmer, got him into a rowboat tied along the wharf.

When they regained the shore the Prince took the sailor to the nearest public house, a seaman's cafe, and saw that the man was served a stiff drink of brandy.

SAFETY ON BRITISH RAILWAYS

Only One Person Killed in Accident in England in 1925.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—It is something of a tribute to British mechanical efficiency that only one person was killed in a British railway accident in 1925. Statistics just published thus indicate the safety of travel in Britain.

There were no major, and only seven minor train accidents, and only one dead. Yet this record is not as good as in some former years.

In the last eight years in England there have been only three fatal railway accidents.

DAVID SOMMERS' ESTATE INCLUDES $934,958 IN CASH

Inventory, Covering More Than One-Half of Capitalist's Holdings Lists $1,418,592 in Assets.

$140,432 IN BONDS, $109,000 INSURANCE

Stocks Listed at Total Value of $185,090 Include Holdings in Several Corporations.

A partial inventory of the estate of David Sommers, capitalist and philanthropist, believed to cover somewhat more than one-half his total estate, was filed today. It shows assets of $1,418,592.19.

The inventory was filed by former Judge Moses N. Sale, counsel for the executors, who requested 30 days more time to complete the inventory. Accounts connected with the sale of the Schram Glass Co., by Mr. Sommers, will be shown in the supplementary inventory, it was stated.

Cash on hand and in banks, $824,938.15, is the largest item shown in the partial inventory. This large amount of cash was due to the fact that Mr. Sommers had not had time to reinvest the proceeds of the sale of the glass company.

The other items are: Stocks, $185,090; bonds, $140,432.54; insurance, $109,000; real estate, $45,000; household goods, $3583.50; jewelry, $400; club memberships, $350.

The stocks include 550 shares of the National Bank of Commerce, the value of which is given as $148,200. Other corporations in which there are large holdings of stock are the Western Manufacturing Building Co., 171 shares, $17,100, and the Houston Oil Co., 100 shares, $890. The bonds include $14,850 of the Metropolitan Theater Corporation, and $10,200 of the fourth Liberty Loan.

Real Estate Listed.

The only item of real estate listed is a pair of lots in the Catlin tract, fronting 300 feet on Lindell boulevard, with 520 feet depth, and valued at $45,000.

Mr. Sommers, who died Dec. 22 last, bequeathed $250,000 to the Dorothy Drey Sommers Shelter Home, 2226 Tower Grove avenue, which was founded by him in memory of his wife and two young daughters, killed in an automobile accident in 1913.

During his lifetime Mr. Sommers contributed the greater part of the money required for the support of the Shelter Home, which cares for children whose parents are unable, temporarily, to provide for them. Usually about 35 children are there. Mr. Sommers also was a large contributor to Jewish charities.

$25,000 to Jewish Hospital.

A bequest of $25,000 was made to the Jewish Hospital. The rest of the estate was left to five of his seven brothers and sisters. A $250,000 trust fund was left for a sister, Mrs. Mary Ray of Cincinnati. The balance was then divided equally among Mrs. Julius Glaser of St. Louis, Mrs. Fannie Leopold of Cincinnati, Mrs. Julia Lindenberg of Cincinnati and Samuel Sommers of St. Louis.

Charles B. Sommers, a brother, his pictures and ornaments. The will stated that Mrs. Waldheim and Charles Sommers "have sufficient wealth of their own and do not require any part of my residuary estate."

Aaron Waldheim and Julius Glaser were named as executors, and they, with Charles Sommers, were named as trustees of the estate.

President Replies to His Critics Through White House Spokesman

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. PRESIDENT Coolidge has not been insensible to the repeated attacks against his administration made recently in and out of Congress, and he is hoping the country will not take these criticisms too seriously.

There were plain indications today that some of the recent assaults on administration policies had greatly impressed officials at the White House. Desirous of replying, but unwilling to authorize any direct quotation of the President himself, these officials explained Mr. Coolidge's attitude about as follows:

He is hopeful the public will not pay too much attention to speeches made in Congress or elsewhere charging failure to enforce law and promote the best interests of the people.

Doing His Utmost.

He holds that he and his cabinet are doing their utmost to enforce laws impartially and promote the prosperity of the American people.

The country can rest assured, he believes, that this is being done despite efforts to make the situation appear otherwise.

He thinks it ought to be remembered in taking stock of the situation that this is the season when there is a tendency to inject politics into public discussions.

On such subjects as the recent attacks on the Department of Justice, and criticisms of his own course in dealing with the Tariff Commission, the President prefers to remain silent. Renewed attempts to secure comment on these subjects from the White House today failed.

So far as the World Court is concerned, Mr. Coolidge is perfectly sure that American adherence to the tribunal in no way indicates a virtual membership in the League of Nations. On the contrary, he believes the action of the Senate should convince the world that the United States is willing to submit international disputes to a judicial body like the World Court. He is convinced there has been no shift in public opinion and that a majority of American citizens are opposed to the league membership.

No Cause to Worry.

He regrets the postponement of the preliminary disarmament conference at Geneva, but hopes the delay will be only temporary. He will continue his effort to co-operate in the enterprise.

The President also is disturbed at statements from various quarters tending to indicate that the Army and Navy are in bad condition, and that proper care is not being taken to safeguard the national defense.

He believes the public should not be unnecessarily alarmed, for he sees no cause whatever for worry.

DECREASE IN MAJOR CRIMES IN ST. LOUIS

Figures Compiled by Chief Clerk Show Substantial Decline for Robberies.

Figures showing a general decrease in major crimes in St. Louis during the past fall and winter, compared with the corresponding period of the preceding year, were read by Chief of Police Gerk today at a luncheon of the Scottish Rite Club at the American Annex Hotel.

Chief Gerk's record showed that 233 highway robberies were committed between Sept. 1, 1925, and Jan. 31 last, against 103 in the same period of last year; 23 safe "jobs" were reported, against 51 last year; 68 pocket pickings cases against 163 last year, and 47 murders against 46.

He also stated that $7,646 arrests were made in the 10 months' period ending Jan. 31, an increase of more than 12,000 over 75,345 arrests in the corresponding period of the preceding year.

He used figures for the fall and winter, he said, because the beginning of cool weather, as a general rule, marks an increase in crime. He explained the increase of one in the number of murders by stating that they are prompted by individual passion over which police officers have no control.

Chief Gerk made no explanation of the improvement in the crime situation, but he opened his remarks on the subject with the statement that between Jan. 1, 1924, and April 10 last, when the administration changed, there were 10 bank and bank messenger robberies, and 16 gang shootings and killings, while since April 10 there have been no crimes of either class.

Chief Gerk also discussed on the change in the nature of criminals, remarking that the technique of the criminal is improving with modern means of transportation and communication. He explained the difference between the old-fashioned patrolman who was "sent out to pound the bricks" with no training, and the policeman of today who is subjected to extensive examination and 30 days in police school.

THREE WOMEN CLAIM SHARE IN CLARK ESTATE

Say They Are Daughters of Late Copper King, Unintentionally Omitted From Will.

THEY RESIDE IN OR NEAR KANSAS CITY

Attorneys for Estate of Former Senator Say They Never Heard of the Claimants.

By the Associated Press.

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 2.—Three women, claiming to be daughters of the late W. A. Clark, former United States Senator from Montana, have asked for a portion of the copper king's millions.

In a petition filed in District Court yesterday, the trio put forth their claim as Clark's legitimate daughters declared were "unintentionally omitted from his will, and ask the court to set aside an order recently entered, admitting the document to probate.

Details of their claim to the estate are not contained in the petition, which was prepared by John A. Shelton, Butte attorney, and Edward C. Hyde of Kansas City. Shelton said he was in possession of little information other than contained in the petition.

The women are named as Alma E. Clark Hines, Effie Clark McWilliams, and Addie L. Clark Miller. Shelton said, however, he understood they lived in or near Kansas City, and that their mother died several years ago. Clark and the woman were married about 1882, he said.

This information, however, is at variance with the account of Clark's marital relations contained in "Who's Who in America."

Here the copper king is listed as having married Kate L. Stauffer of Connellsville, Pa., in 1889. In 1901, eight years after the death of his first wife, he married Miss Anna E. La Chapelle of Butte, Mont. Of the first union were born W. A. Clark Jr. of Los Angeles; Mrs. Marius de Brabant of Los Angeles; C. E. Clark of Jerome, Ariz., and Mrs. L. R. Morris of White Plains, N. Y. Eugene Clark of Santa Barbara, Calif., was the only child by his second marriage.

Clark died in New York March 2, 1925, leaving an estate valued at about $50,000,000. Under his will the estate was distributed to his widow, Mrs. Anna E. Clark, two sons and three daughters, and among various charities, fraternal organizations, friends and distant relatives.

Attorney for Estate Never Heard of Claimants.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The three women who have started action in Butte, Mont., against probate of the W. A. Clark will are not known to attorneys of the Clark estate in this city.

Edward L. Blackman of the firm of Blackman, Pratt & Koehler said today he had heard of the women's claim only through the newspapers, and that "everything will be done to detect such a claim."

Blackman said in the 20 years he had known the late Senator he had never heard of the petitioners.

WOMAN AND DAUGHTER GET 3 YEARS FOR BANK HOLLOUP

Mrs. Catherine Rogers, 40, and Zera Crumb, 19, Are Sentenced at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Feb. 2.—Three years each in the State penitentiary in Sioux Falls was the sentence imposed today by Judge Fieger upon Mrs. Catherine Rogers, 40 years old, and her daughter, Zera Crumb, 19, who last week were convicted of first-degree robbery for the holdup of the First State Bank at Renner, near Sioux Falls.

It was announced several days ago by their attorney that no appeal was contemplated, the defendants having confessed their guilt.

INTERNATIONAL MINERS' UNION WILL ASSIST AMERICAN STRIKERS

(Copyright, 1926.)

THE executive body of the International Miners' Federation has passed a resolution of sympathy and encouragement for the American anthracite strikers, and decided to send them financial assistance. The delegates urged national miners' organizations all over the world to aid their American brethren with money.

The International Labor Bureau's contemplated inquiry into conditions in the mining industry throughout the world was approved and wholehearted technical co-operation was promised.

BISHOP OF LONDON LEADS FIGHT TO HELP U. S. DRYS

Prominent Britishers Organize to Curb Smuggling of Liquors.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A meeting under the chairmanship of the Bishop of London, and attended by many prominent Britishers today unanimously approved a response to the appeal from the American Citizens' Committee of 1900 asking help to check the smuggling of liquors into the United States from the British Isles.

The response declares that smuggling by Britishers has aroused widespread indignation on this side, and that nothing should be left undone to reduce the evil. Letters of support were read from Lady Astor and Sir Austen Chamberlain, the foreign Secretary, the latter declaring that the Government was doing its utmost to suppress the traffic. The Bishop of London was empowered to nominate a committee to take further action.

Pete Herman Begins Sentence for Permitting Liquor Sale in His Cafe, Under Padlock.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2.—Pete Herman, former world's champion bantamweight boxer, entered the House of Detention here today to serve a 90-day sentence for contempt of court in having permitted the sale of liquor in his cabaret after it had been padlocked by Federal authorities.

Herman is partly blind.

RECORD TIDE ON WEST COAST

Waves Wreck 19 Cottages on Santa Monica Beach.

By the Associated Press.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Feb. 2.—The highest tide in nine years continued to lash the coast of Southern California. The heavy surf, advancing far beyond its usual line, pounded to pieces 19 beach cottages in the Santa Monica Bay region yesterday and last night. More than 100 houses are still in danger.

At Ocean Park last night a boat landing at the end of the pier was washed away. The death of two seamen was attributed to the storm. As a result of the rough sea both fell aboard ship, suffering fatal injuries.

SHOOTS EVIDENCE IN BAR RAID

Woman Shatters Pitcher of Liquor in Hand of Deputy.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOLINE, Ill., Feb. 2.—A shot from a pistol in the hand of Mrs. Lizzie Ide last evening destroyed a pitcher containing evidence just seized in the bar of her husband, Herman Ide, of East Moline, by a raiding squad led by Deputy Sheriff Greg, Louis Fowler, deputy sheriff, was holding the pitcher and she shot it to pieces in his hand.

She is in jail charged with assault with a deadly weapon and her husband is held on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

MINE WAGE PARLEY RESUMED

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—Ratification of the anthracite wage conference today, after a week's recess, found the negotiators facing a blank wall, so far as definite plans for settling the strike were concerned.

When they adjourned Saturday night the last of many peace proposals had been discarded and so far as could be learned neither side had anything new to offer today. The question of arbitration apparently is the principal cause of the deadlock.

Vanderbilt Jr. to Take Rest Cure

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 2.—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., newspaper owner and scion of the famous New York family, who has been here for observation by Johns Hopkins Hospital specialists, will enter a institution later for a rest cure of two months. Vanderbilt is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, it is said.

SLAYER OF THREE TAKEN TO TRIAL BY TROOPS, GETS DEATH SENTENCE

Only 16 Minutes Required in Kentucky to Determine Fate of Negro Who Attacked Woman.

TANKS AND MACHINE GUNS ON STREETS

Visitors Barred From City and Business Near Courthouse Is Halted—Prisoner Admits Guilt.

By the Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 2.—Ed Harris, Negro, pleaded guilty here today to an attack on Mrs. Clarence Bryant, whose husband and two children he had confessed to murdering, and was sentenced to be hanged Friday, March 5, in the Fayette County jail yard. The trial lasted exactly 15 minutes.

It was one of the speediest trials in the history of the county. Court was called promptly at 9 o'clock. Prosecuting attorney Maury Kemper elected to try the defendant on the charge growing out of his attack on Mrs. Bryant here Jan. 19. Conviction in this case carried the death penalty. Charges against the Negro for the murder of Mr. Bryant and the children were not called.

Makes No Defense.

Fifteen minutes after court was convinced he stood before Circuit Judge Stoll in the packed court room and mumbled "I brought it on myself." He was then sentenced to be hanged. He was taken away as surreptitiously as he had been brought in early this morning from the Frankfort reformatory.

Outside on every side were State troops; whippet tanks commanded street intersections; machine guns bristled from every corner and a troop of cavalry was standing at attention in old Cheapside, the marketing place of other days, within the shadow of the Courthouse.

Harris, friendless and alone, save for the counsel appointed by the State, walked to his seat when his case was called.

Judge Stoll received permission of the defense counsel to invite Col. Dan M. Carroll, commanding the troops, and Adjutant-General Kehoe to sit beside him on the bench. Formal arraignment was waived and the Negro said "Yes, sir," in answer to whether he was guilty.

One Witness Heard.

The first 12 men on the jury panel were called and each was asked by the State: "Have you any conscientious scruples against inflicting the death penalty?" None of them had.

ROBBERS KIDNAP EDUCATION BOARD MEMBER AND SON

Louis A. Schollmeyer, member of the Board of Education, and his son, Louis A. Jr., 15 years old, had their first experience with highwaymen last night. They were kidnapped by two calm, businesslike young men in front of their home, 4214 S. Grand boulevard, and taken in Schollmeyer's new touring car to a point near Osceola street and Broadway, where they were ejected.

Schollmeyer lost jewelry valued at $6200 and $6 cash. He had $500 in cash on his person earlier in the day, but luckily had placed it in a bank. The jewelry was insured. The robbers allowed him 30 cents for car fare home.

"I left my office at 8:40 p. m. and picked up the boy at Oakland avenue and Kingshighway," related Schollmeyer, who is general manager of the Union Quarry & Construction Co., 4687 Natural Bridge avenue. "We reached the house at 7:05 o'clock. The boy was getting some grips from the back seat and I was backing out when I felt a revolver against my back. I looked up and saw two tall young fellows with caps pulled down and overcoat collars turned up.

SLAYER BROUGHT TO COURT BY TROOPS GETS DEATH PENALTY

beside the Negro to the waiting automobile.

Gayle, of the same physical stature as Harris, was bludgeoned, as was Harris. He led the negro from the walls of the reformatory to the automobile 15 feet away.

The territory around the reformatory had been roped off for two blocks. The streets around the building were patrolled by guardsmen, following last night's incident when troops were ordered to loosen tear gas on 250 curiosity seekers who had gathered around the prison. Officers finally had requested the crowd to disperse.

Business Suspended.
Departure from the reformatory took place at 3:14 o'clock this morning. It was only an hour's drive to Lexington. As the officers feared that the main highway from Frankfort to Lexington might be closed, Intermountain bus line and street car officials agreed not to bring visitors into Lexington while there appeared any danger of an uprising against the Negro. Banks and business houses near the court house also were closed. Private automobiles were stopped at the outskirts of the city and turned away.

Judge Stoll cleared the court house early yesterday. Negroes who are to testify at coming trials were cautioned to remain at home during the trial of Harris.

Tanks and Machine Guns.
The city was a virtual fortress today, and particularly in the vicinity of the courthouse, where the restricted area has been set off. A solid line of troops armed with pistols only was formed around the courthouse, taking in several squares.

Whippet tanks were stationed at strategic points and backed up by machine guns. The machine guns were for the most part mounted in the center of blocks, and had a clean sweep of the street. In the shadows of the monument to Gen. John H. Morgan and his men, one of the machine guns had been placed, commanding three streets.

Outposts were stationed at every road leading into the city long before the cavalcade escorted the Negro had drawn near, and no vehicles or pedestrians were permitted to enter, virtually shutting off all inbound traffic.

In the tower on the courthouse an observation post was established and lookouts were stationed at other advantageous points.

Persons passing through the restricted area were halted and searched for weapons.

Harris was sentenced to death exactly 12 days after his crimes.

Cow Trade Led to Crime.
Dissatisfaction over a cow trade was advanced as the motive for Harris' crime. Harris, who formerly worked on the farm where Bryant was employed, traded Bryant an automobile for a cow. He was dissatisfied with the deal, he said in his original confession, and on the night of Jan. 19 he attacked the Bryant family when they were returning to their home. Bryant was the first slain. His wife and two children were driven into the house by the negro, and the children slain as they begged for their lives and that of their mother. Mrs. Bryant was attacked, then shot twice and left for dead.

She crawled and dragged herself to a nearby house and summoned aid and named Harris as the assailant. He was arrested at Georgetown, Ky., 12 miles away, the next day, largely through the efforts of George Blanchard, another negro, who told the authorities he had seen Harris board a train. Taken to the Frankfort Reformatory, the negro was the object of an attack on the part of convicts.

DIRECTORS TO BE SUED FOR LOSSES IN BANK

Finance Commissioner to Be in Action Soon in Night
and Day Case.

Civil suits against the directors of the Night and Day Bank, for the losses, somewhat less than $1,000,000, sustained by depositors in the collapse of the bank in January, 1925, will be filed here within a few days, it was learned today at the office of the State Finance Department in Jefferson City.

The work of preparing the suits is in the hands of Thomas Francis St. Louis counsel for the Finance Commissioner, and Charles Gilles, special deputy in charge of liquidation of the Night and Day Bank.

Section 11724 of the State statutes, prescribing the liability of bank directors for losses sustained through negligence in their conduct of the business, will furnish the basis for the proceeding. The Attorney-General's office, several months ago, furnished an opinion to Finance Commissioner French, stating that this section would apply to any cases where losses had been sustained "on account of the failure of directors to exercise that degree of care which the law requires of them, in performance of their duties relative to management of affairs and business of the bank."

About $900,000 Lost.
The amount to be sued for will be determined by the difference between the approved claims of depositors and the amount repaid to them, and now on hand in the liquidation. The approved claims amounted to about $2,600,000 and the payments to depositors have reached 62 per cent, or $1,610,579. A certain sum of money, believed not to be large, is on hand now, so that the balance unrecovered on depositors' claims would be less than $1,000,000, and probably more than $800,000.

The suit is in behalf of depositors only, and will not in any case benefit the stockholders, who lost their entire investment.

The directors of the Night and Day Bank at the time of its closing were H. H. Hohenschild, president; former Gov. Elias W. Major, former Judge William H. Allen of the St. Louis court of appeals; T. K. Cooper, Fred J. Cornwell Jr., Phil A. McDermott and Thomas L. Mauldin.

Hohenschild, Major, Allen and McDermott were indicted on charges of assisting in receipt of deposits in a failing institution. Hohenschild was tried twice, a jury in St. Louis disagreeing, and a jury in Joplin acquitting him. The remaining charges against Hohenschild, Major, Allen and McDermott were dismissed later.

Damages From Third to Ninth Streets Placed at $543,000, Benefits $484,000.

The report of commissioners in the projected widening of Franklin avenue, between Third and Ninth streets, has been filed with Circuit Judge Miller, fixing damages to abutting property at $543,000 and benefits to property in the surrounding section at $484,000.

besides $58,943.30 as the city's share of the cost. It is proposed to take 30 feet off the lots on the south side, except for the half block east of Ninth street, where 15 feet would be taken from each side.

Exceptions to the award of damages to four property owners will be filed by the city. Former commissioners, to whose report lot-holders had excepted, made awards on these four pieces which were $23,235 less in the aggregate than the awards of the present commissioners. The lots in question and varying awards are: Catlin estate, in block between Third and Fourth streets as far as the south and north as Locust street and Carr street. The highest benefit figure is $90 per front foot for some Franklin avenue property and the lowest, elsewhere, is $2.

HOME TALENT FOR OKLAHOMA SIDE IN WRESTLING BET

Prosecutor at Chandler Issues Warrant for Indian Who Lost $28,800 in East. St. Louis.

J. G. Berryhill, wealthy Oklahoma Indian, isn't an old hand at the wrestling game but he has learned by bitter experience that many a match is won by the man who follows the axiom: "Ask for a local referee."

And so, while East St. Louis police were waiting for Berryhill to tell them how he lost $28,800 in a $57,600 wrestling match swindle there on Jan. 24, Berryhill went quietly back to his own State and there asked for a local referee.

County Attorney Roscoe Cox of Chandler, consented to act for Berryhill. His first ruling came in the form of issuance of warrants for three men charging felonious conspiracy in connection with the fraud.

Three Named in Warrants.
One of the men named in the writ is Jack Fisher, champion lightweight wrestler of the world, who reported to have been offered $37,600 in stakes on a wrestling match by three men who waylaid him in a hall in the Arnold Hotel, W. O. Woods of Wylie, Tex., and Jess Ripley of East St. Louis, are the others named in the warrants.

Woods and Fisher already had been charged with conspiracy in Illinois warrants and were arrested for Oklahoma authorities when they appeared before Justice of the Peace Driscoll for hearing yesterday. Ripley, who had appeared at the hearing as a spectator, was also arrested.

At first Ripley said he would waive extradition and the two others indicated they, too, were ready to go to Oklahoma. But they decided to resist the action. They were released on $2500 bonds yesterday on preliminary writs of habeas corpus granted by City Judge Cook.

Ret Proposed in Oklahoma.
County Attorney Cox explained over the telephone today that Berryhill had been approached first in Davenport, a few miles from Chandler, to put up a bet on the wrestling match which he now charges was a frameup from start to finish.

Davenport is in Lincoln County and County Attorney Cox explained the courts there have venue in the case because the alleged conspiracy was begun there. He said he would mail a certified copy of the warrant to East St. Louis today.

Besides Woods, Ripley and Fisher, T. F. Wilson of Tulsa, Ok., brother-in-law of Fisher, has been named in a conspiracy warrant in East St. Louis. He is not named in the Oklahoma warrant.

Skaters on Golet's Ice Raise Nice Legal Point

New York Millionaire May Own Air Above
and Water Beneath, but Not the Top 18 Inches of Lake.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 1.—Legal minds among the residents of the little village of Florida, near Goshen, have succeeded in raising a nice point of law following efforts of Robert Golet, New York millionaire, to keep them from skating on Lake Glenmere, near his country home.

The trouble between Golet and the villagers over what Golet regards as their invasion of his rights has been brewing a considerable time, and after threatening to get an injunction barring the villagers from that portion of the lake upon which his property fronts, he inserted a notice in all the Middletown papers yesterday that he would prosecute all who skate on that portion of the lake or trespass on his property. He also summarily orders all who have boats tied along the shore there to remove them at once.

Golet bought part of his property on Lake Glenmere last fall from Mrs. Mary E. Harriman, widow of E. H. Harriman, and, according to the villagers, Golet has no right to say what shall be done on the surface of the lake, because they contend the Florida Water Co., which supplies water to the village and the Orange County Alms House, was granted the right in perpetuity in 1892 to control and use the upper 18 inches of water on the entire surface of Lake Glenmere. This grant, the villagers say, was made by Hamford R. Cable, original owner of the lake, who sold most of the land surrounding it to Mrs. Harriman.

As long as the Florida Water Co. does not protest, the villagers say, Golet has no power to prevent their skating on any portion of the lake. But the Goshen Independent-Republican asks, "Suppose a skater breaks through the ice and some portion of his anatomy plunges into the water to a depth exceeding the aforesaid 18 inches?"

Golet, when confronted with this argument, is reported to have maintained that if he did not control the surface of the lake he owned the air above it and would see that said air was not disturbed by the presence of any villagers.

The dispute over the ownership of the lake surface started New Year's day, when Harry Wood, 24 years old, who was skating on the lake, skated among a group of society persons from New York and Tuxedo, who were the guests of Golet and his wife, Mrs. Golet, without serious injury, but Golet accused Wood of tripping her and ordered his superintendent to keep villagers from that part of the lake thereafter.

THREE GET 5-YEAR TERMS FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERIES

All Plead Guilty of Holdups in Judge Landwehr's Court.

Three young men pleaded guilty
of highway robbery in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court today and were sentenced to five years each in the penitentiary, the minimum punishment.

Milton Host, 18, of 2119 Salls-
bury street, admitted that on Dec.
6 he held up David Mitchell, Negro chauffeur, at Spring avenue and Lindell boulevard, and stole an automobile in which he was later arrested.

Arthur Becker, 22, of 1808 Wash-
street, admitted that on Nov. 19
he held up Sol Siegel in his shop at 3308 Easton avenue and took a diamond ring worth $300.

Barney Hubbard, a Negro, admitted that on Nov. 5 he held up another Negro at 2121 Adams street and took $100 cash.

Two men who made a false personal injury claim to the Illinois Traction System were given three months in the workhouse each when they pleaded guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses. They were Michael Elias and George Sakalis, arrested Nov.
4 when they sought to collect $225
for injuries they said Elias suffered when he fell from a street car. They had made an identical claim against the United Railways

DRIVER STOPS AUTO AND SAVES BOY IN FOREST PARK LAKE

Mrs. W. F. Blanke, 2215 Lindell
Boulevard, Tells of Witnessing Incident From Her Home.

Rescue of a boy about 10 or 11 years old by a young man who halted his automobile in Lindell boulevard and waded into the icy water of Wabash Lake, in Forest Park, was described today by Mrs.
W. F. Blanke of 2215 Lindell boulevard, who witnessed the incident
from her home across the boulevard.

About 3:30 p. m., Saturday, the boy attempted to cross the lake on the ice, which was melting, and which gave way near the center of the lake at a point where the water was up to the boy's neck. He was struggling unsuccessfully to lift himself on the ice, when the motorist, said to be a young man about 19 or 20, saw his plight and went to the rescue.

Another passing motorist carried the boy, whose name was not learned, presumably to his home.
The rescuer was invited into the Blanke home, where he accepted
the loan of an overcoat. "He did not give me his name," said Mrs.
Blanke. "His mother was in the automobile, and apparently she was anxious to get him home. Sunday
he returned the overcoat, but Mr.
Blanke and I were not in, and he

FINE $200 IN POLICE COURT FOR CARELESS DRIVING

Landin R. Hill, 24 years old, a mechanic, 3441 East Grand avenue,
was fined $200 by Police Judge Beck today on a charge of careless driving. The fine was later reduced to $100 and costs, but Hill
filed notice of appeal.

On Jan. 12, Hill's machine collided with an automobile driven by George W. Killman, 4157 Rosselle street, at O'Fallon and Carter avenues. Killman, who was injured in the collision, was cross-charged with careless driving, but the case against him was dismissed today.

A fine of $100 imposed on Martin Habermann, a machinist, of 1208 Ann avenue, for careless driving was reduced to $50 and costs
by Judge Beck. Habermann appealed from the sentence.

DILLON INDICTED WITH COMPANIONS IN ROBBERY CASE

played anywhere in New York, but the fact was established by police investigators.

Dillon's mother visited him in the Tombs yesterday with his lawyer, Samuel L. Chess. He is the attorney who represented Rosalind Velva Wainwright, adopted daughter of Ellis Wainwright, in her recent successful claim for a share of the wealthy St. Louis brewer's estate.

The conversation between mother
and son was through a screen,
in front of the bars which inclosed young Dillon. She assured him that she would help him in any way possible. Dillon was neatly dressed and clean-shaven for the interview.

Details of the questioning of Dillon, by detectives, as to the murder of his father, Dr. William A.
Dillon, in St. Louis, April 29 last, became known today. Dillon went so far as to deny, to his New York questioners, that he was arrested on suspicion in that case. He said he was merely questioned concerning his father's habits, as a means of providing possible clues to the detectives working on the case.

The fact, however, is that Dillon
was held in the Clayton Jail as a suspect in the case, and on being released at the end of a 20-hour detention period, was rearrested for further questioning. He has never made a statement as to his whereabouts on the night of the murder. He was not at his room in the university town of Lawrence, Kan., that night, but was there the next day. The purchase of a revolver by Dillon, in a Lawrence store, was shown.

GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE BELLEFONTAINE FARMS

Judge Frey Orders Inquiry Into Charges of Mistreatment of Delinquent Boys.

Acting in conformity with a suggestion offered Saturday by Circuit Judge Hartmann of the Juvenile Court, Circuit Judge Frey today instructed the grand jury to make an investigation of the conduct of Bellefontaine Farms, the city's home for delinquent boys.

As was told in the Post-Dispatch, Judge Hartmann declared
boys had described to him cruel whippings and other punishments administered at the institution.

In giving his instruction, Judge Frey advised the grand jury to hear Judge Hartmann and representatives of the Board of Children's Guardians, which manages the farm, as well as any others who might know of conditions
there.

He instructed the grand jury
that it was to make a report only,
since indictments, should they be necessary, must be returned in St.
Louis County, where the farm lies.
He stressed the fact, however, that he himself had no opinion as to the truth or falsity of the charges.

law, to regulate or increase rates
of motorbus companies operating in the State. The decision was in connection with the application of the Springfield Traction Co. of Springfield for authority to increase its fare on its buses from 3 to 7 cents, the same as its street car fare.

BANKER'S DAUGHTER ELOPES TO CLAYTON

Miss Sarah Lasky Weds Detroit Man—Father Learns News From Reporter.

Miss Sarah Lasky, daughter of
J. E. Lasky, president of the City
Trust Co., 1132 Washington avenue, and Charles Goldstein of Detroit, eloped to Clayton yesterday and were married.

When a reporter telephoned the Lasky home at 5476 Delmar boulevard this morning to inquire about the romance, the bride's father answered and said it was the first
he had heard of the marriage.

Wait a minute and I'll see if she is in her room," he said. Returning, he added: "She's there, asleep. Whom did she marry?"

Told the bridegroom's name, the banker remarked, "I don't know him very well."

Mother Don't Know Him.
Miss Lasky gave her age as 23
in applying for the license and Goldstein said he was 28.

Later, when a reporter called at the Lasky home, Mrs. Lasky opened the door and said: "I don't know anything about it. They didn't tell me they were going to get married. I don't know Mr.
Goldstein."

Still later, the reporter was given admittance and saw Mrs. Goldstein.
"I met my husband last Christmas when visiting friends in Detroit," she said. "He wanted me
to get married there right away,
but I wanted to be married at St.
Louis later. He followed me after the holidays and I urged him to wait till April, but he wouldn't."

"He came back two days ago. It was just a typical whirlwind courtship. When two people are in love with each other like Mr. Goldstein and me, it's not easy to wait for a planned ceremonial marriage. We had meant to keep our marriage
a secret for a while, but the inquire clerk told us a reporter had inquired about us before we arrived."

Asked her husband's occupation, Mrs. Goldstein said: "He's the same thing to Detroit that Gar-avelli is to St. Louis; what do you call that?"

Phones Him to Check Out.
Goldstein went to Hotel Chase and his bride telephoned him today
and told him to check out to elude reporters.

Shortly before 5 p. m. yesterday
some one telephoned Deputy Rec-order Clarence Hackmann at Clayton and asked him to wait
after the usual closing hour to issue a marriage license for Miss Lasky. He waited and issued the license shortly after 5 o'clock. Justice of the Peace Werremeyer of Clayton was called to the Recorder's office and performed the wedding ceremony.

BRILLIANT JEWEL DISPLAY AT OPENING OF PARLIAMENT

Mourning for Queen Mother Only Emphasizes Gorgeousness of Stones.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The State
opening of Parliament today furnished one of the most brilliant displays of diamonds and pearls
the House of Lords has seen in recent years. "As the court is still in half mourning for Queen Mother Alexandra. Most of the women wore black, but the dark gowns served merely to emphasize the brilliance of the stones.

Imposing and heavy veritable halos of light about the heads of their owners, diamonds gleamed in aristocratic ears and about aristocratic necks and in some cases almost hid the bodies of the wearers.

Queen Mary wore a shining jet gown, which was a background for a huge stomacher of diamonds.
She had diamonds in her ears, a high pearl and diamond collar encircled her throat and she wore an imposing crown bearing maltese crosses composed of priceless diamonds.

The Duchess of Devonshire, immediately behind the Queen, wore ropes of pearls and Lady Cynthia Colville and Lady Amphil had diamond coronets.

Truck Gardener, 68, Ends Life.
Clas A. Goransson, 68 years old,
a truck gardener residing on St.

MILLER BARRED FROM LINCOLN DAY PROGRAM

Mayor May Hire Hall and Put on Own Show at Springfield, Mo.

If Mayor Miller wants to deliver a Lincoln day speech in Springfield the day of the annual banquet of the Association of Young Republicans, Feb. 12, he will have to hire his own hall. He has been officially barred from the official program.

Just what the Mayor will do is causing no little concern to the out-State politicians in charge of the arrangements for the Springfield meeting.

They recall that in 1920, when the Republican organization was in a state of lethargy during arrangements for a banquet to Arthur M. Hyde, the nominee for Governor, Miller went down into his own pocket and dug out the necessary guarantee for the banquet expenses. The out-State politicians fear that he may do something of the kind for himself at Springfield and have his own meeting.

Though they have shown no signs of weakening in their determination that Mayor Miller shall not speak, they are exhibiting some evidences of uneasiness over the situation.

For several weeks the Mayor's associates have been trying to edge him into the program. They have not continued rebuffs. Yesterday they delivered another demand, almost in the form of an ultimatum.

It was in the form of a letter from Robert J. Kratky, manager of the Miller-Mayor campaign last year, to W. L. Vandeventer, Assistant United States District Attorney in Kansas City, and president of the Association of Young Republicans. Kratky expressed dissatisfaction with the several reasons advanced by Vandeventer in earlier correspondence as to why Mayor Miller was not on the program, and asked whether the officers of the Association were sincere in their expressed desire for party harmony.

Program in Hands of Printer.
"Calling attention to the scarcity of young Republicans on the program, Kratky asked: "Is the name of the Association a snare and a delusion?"

Vandeventer, by telephone this morning from Kansas City, said it was impossible to alter the program at this late date.

"The program is in the hands of the printer," he said. "It cannot now be changed. In preparing our program we were careful to eliminate all candidates and prospective candidates. If we began to include candidates there would be no place to stop. No Mayor Miller has not announced himself a candidate for Senator, but some of his friends have, and he has not denied it."

"Senator Williams is on the program; but not as a candidate for nomination for re-election. He is there as a Republican Senator from Missouri. Former Gov. Hyde, also on the program, has been talked of for Senator, but he has publicly announced he would not be a candidate, and has pledged his support to Senator Williams."

"It is to be regretted the situation is as it is, but it cannot be helped."

Politicians recall that some 20 years ago Senator Reed forced the State Democratic organization to permit him to speak in a State convention in Excelsior Springs after they had all plans made to prevent him from speaking. Informed of the plans, Reed announced that he would "hire a hall
and have more hearers than there were delegates in the convention."

His threat had the effect of an immediate abandonment of the organization plans.

The complete speaking program
of the Lincoln day dinner, use of last-minute change to include Miller should be made, includes an address of welcome by E. E. E.
McJinney, editor of the Springfield
Republican, and addresses by Gov.
Baker, former Governor Hyde, Lieutenant-Governor Bennett of Springfield, Mr. Arthur Ducker, sull of Kirksville, Dewey Stewart
of Galena and Senator Williams.

HENRY C. GRIESEDECK DIES IN HOSPITAL

Veteran Brewer Succumbs at 66 Following an Operation—Services Thursday.

Henry Charles Griesedieck, veteran brewer and widely known as a traphooter and amateur fisherman, died today at Barnes Hospital after a week's illness, following an abdominal operation. He was 66 years old.

Mr. Griesedieck was the son of Frank Griesedieck, a member of the brewing firm of Brinkworth, Griesedieck & Nolker and owner of the old Lafayette Brewery at Eighteenth street and Cass avenue
during the sixties.

After receiving his preliminary education in the public schools here, Mr. Griesedieck was sent to Germany by his father to get a scientific education in brewing. He had several years' experience in German and American breweries and finally became manager of the Helm Brewery in East St. Louis.
Later he was connected with the Consumers' Brewery here. At the time of his death he was general superintendent of the Independent Brewing Co.

Mr. Griesedieck until recent years was active in traphooting,
and was the winner of many championship contests open to shooters
of the Middle West.

Besides his widow, who was Miss
Alma Fonger, of Jersey City Heights, N. J., he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. G. Drost and Mrs. Herbert L. Parker Jr., of St. Louis.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at a time to be announced later. Mr. Griesedieck was a member of Irwin Lodge, A. F. and A. M., and a member of the Mystic Shrine.

OPEN VERDICT IN CASE OF MAN KILLED BY FALL Jury Unable to Decide Whether
Death of Gustav Altschul Was Accidental.

An open verdict was returned by a Coroner's jury today in the death of Gustav Altschul, 30 years old, who died from the effects of a fall from a tenth floor window of the Stix, Baer & Fuller store
yesterday. The verdict stated that it had not been shown whether the plunge was accidental or intentional.

Mr. Altschul was a nephew of Julius Baer, vice-president of Stix, Baer & Fuller, and he had been in St. Louis two days, having come to this country recently from Germany. The only witnesses at the inquest were two persons who saw him lying on the Seventh street sidewalk, near Lucas avenue, after the fall. One was the driver of a bus, which the falling man struck.

Man Found Unconscious on Lot.
Michael Eszolski, 32 years old,
of 944 1/2 O'Fallon street, found unconscious on a lot near Fourteenth street and Cass avenue at 8 p. m.
yesterday. The verdict stated that he had not been shown whether
the plunge was accidental or intentional.

Dividends Regularly for 40 Years

Constant war on waste Products of first quality Uninterrupted dividends
Stability of earnings
Small profits per pound on large volume

The life history of Swift & Company's operations is thus briefly summarized.

The chemical laboratory and the constant search for improved methods have reduced waste to a minimum. They have also enabled us to improve greatly the quality of your meat.

Thrift and conservative policies have made it possible to pay dividends without interruption for 40 years, although our profits have averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Swift & Company thrift has benefited others beside Swift shareholders. A portion of the gains resulting from thrift is passed along to the producers of live stock and to the consumers of meat. Competition sees to that.

REJECTED SUITOR, 18, TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Richard Bell Had Proposed to Girl, 17, Drinks Poison in Her Home.

Repeated refusal by Miss Billie Earl, 17 years old, 3409 Morgan street, to become his wife, caused Richard Bell, 18, a mechanic, 2039 Washington avenue, to end his life last night at her home by swallowing poison.

Miss Earl said today that she had known Bell only two weeks and shortly after their introduction he proposed marriage. In jest she accepted and they were to have been married last Saturday, but Miss Earl caused it to be postponed on account of her mother's illness.

Later Miss Earl told Bell she never had intended to marry him. His early proposal and persistence at marriage, she said, caused her to view his advances with suspicion.

Her mother, Mrs. G. A. Earl, said that Bell had once made the threat that if Miss Earl were seen by him in the company of any other man he would kill both her and himself.

MATRIMONIAL TANGLE

UNCHANGED BY DECISION

Man Denied Rehearing of Cross-Bill Against First Wife, Who Had Divorce Set Aside.

The tangled matrimonial affairs of William E. Daoust, of 3744 Washington boulevard, a horse and mule dealer, who has found himself married to two wives, were not relieved by a decision by Circuit Judge Peasey yesterday.

The Court denied him a new trial on his cross-bill to his first wife's petition for divorce, which had been granted her, but which she successfully petitioned to have set aside, when she discovered he had remarried three days after the decree was handed down.

Daoust's first wife, Birdie, obtained a decree last February on the ground of indignities. Daoust then married Mrs. Anna Smith, and the first wife sued to have the divorce set aside on the ground Daoust had deceived her as to his financial condition.

E. G. LEWIS DISCHARGED FROM BANKRUPTCY

Action Removes From His Shoulder Obligations Total-
ing $10,000,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 2.—E. G. Lewis, promoter of a "dream city" at Atascadero and originator of the Palos Verde Community, has been discharged from bankruptcy by United States Judge James, thereby removing from his shoulders obligations that total approximately $10,000,000. Lewis' investors, numbering more than 10,000 from all parts of the United States, particularly the Mid West, were hit when he was thrown into bankruptcy Jan. 5, 1925, after creditors had filed involuntary proceedings against him on Dec. 15, 1924. For a year civil strife waged about the Lewis holdings, minority and majority creditors making a fight over A. R. Rutherford, trustee of the estate, until a few months ago a compromise was effected by which Judge Robert M. Clark and Judge Victory Shaw were appointed trustees to serve along with Rutherford. After being adjudged bankrupt, Lewis filed a list of his debts and assets, listing the latter at $23,000,000, $17,000,000 of which involves a suit against the Title Insurance & Trust Co. of Los Angeles and $250,000 represented by suit against the Union Oil Co. for asserted damage to a Lewis well in Signal Hill.

Neither of the suits has been decided and, according to Referee Earl E. Moss, do not constitute tangible assets. Physical assets remaining amount to about $5,000,000, including 20,000-odd acres at Atascadero and several oil wells now being managed by the trustees for the creditors. A complete list of Lewis' assets was given as controlling interest in the Atascadero Estates Inc., Atascadero Beach & Improvement Co., Atascadero Mercantile Co., Atascadero Mill & Lumber Co., Atascadero Press, Atascadero Copper Co., Caladero Products Co., Lewis Foundation Corporation, National Graphite Co., Permanent Residence Department Corporation, the Woman's National Publishing Co., and certain minor interests in other corporations and contingent fees and interests in the Palos Verde project, oil properties in California, Montana and Wyoming, an insurance policy for $500,000 and mailing lists containing thousands of names of "potential investors" the world over.

While founding Atascadero, in San Luis Obispo County, Lewis originally bought 22,468 acres of land for $736,350. About 6873 acres were sold, it was reported, for approximately $4,000,000. Lewis also purchased 916 acres of beach property for $1,200,000, which was handled through the Atascadero Beach Land & Improvement.

A ballot was taken among Lewis' creditors and they voted, 12 to 1, in favor of his discharge from bankruptcy.

A meeting of creditors today with Referee in Bankruptcy Earl E. Moss, is expected to determine a successor to Mr. Trustee Shaw, who tendered his resignation several weeks ago. Affairs of the estate up to the discharge of Lewis also will be reviewed.

Lewis was the founder of University City, a St. Louis suburb.

TEETH TO BE EXTRACTED FREE

St. Louis Study Club to Conduct Dental Clinic.
Persons with teeth needing extraction may have them taken out, free of charge, at a session of the St. Louis Study Club, comprising graduate dentists, from 8 to 10 o'clock tomorrow night, at the Washington University dental school clinic, Ewing avenue and Locust boulevard. The group will be prepared to care for about 100 patients, but none under 16 years of age can be accommodated.

Conductive anesthesia, the modern method of nerve blocking, will be used. St. Louis dentists formed the Study Club eight years ago to increase their knowledge of advanced subjects in their profession.

ALIMONY OF $200 A MONTH AND HOME GRANTED TO WOMAN

But Court Stipulates That Carl Krutzsch May Use Residence When He Desires.

Separate maintenance of $200 a month, with $500 for attorney fees, was granted to Mrs. May G. Krutzsch of 5554 DeGiverville avenue yesterday by Circuit Judge McElhinney at Clayton from Carl K. Krutzsch, factory superintendent of a steel company.

Use of the home on DeGiverville was awarded to Mrs. Krutzsch, with the stipulation that Krutzsch should be allowed to use it also when he desired. They have three children, 14 to 21 years old, were married in 1902 and separated in 1924.

The story of a witness who came back because a check came back developed yesterday at the trial of a receivership suit against the Security Guarantor Realty Co. Case.

Harry E. Heltrass, 5733A Spaulding avenue, contracted last October to buy a lot on Fairview avenue in Russell Park and had made several payments. Like others who have testified, he was dissatisfied with the promoters and willing to testify against them.

Accordingly, he went last Saturday afternoon to the offices of Referee Charles R. Hamilton on the fifteenth floor of the Federal Commerce Trust Building. In the anteroom he met John H. Niedringhaus and Herbert C. Camien, president and vice president, respectively, of the company. He let it be known he was going to testify.

Title of Money Back.

"What do you want?" he was asked. "Title to the lot or my money back," he answered. "He was told to call Sunday for his money at the offices of the Fairview Investment Co. on South Grand boulevard, near Humphrey street. The Fairview company has the same officers and directors as the Security Guarantor firm. The prospect caused Heltrass to leave without testifying. And, sure enough, he received a check for $197, representing payments plus interest, when he kept the Sunday appointment. The check was signed by Niedringhaus for the Fairview company. The Tower Grove Bank opened for business at 9 a. m. yesterday. Heltrass was the first customer. He presented the check and it was handed back marked "insufficient funds."

Other witnesses.

Other owners of property in the subdivision who testified yesterday were Dr. Gordon E. Benas, 3854 Humphrey street, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Bright, 4046 Miami street, Albert A. Kuhne, 4031 Tholoan street, T. H. Meenan, 612 Kansas street, George F. Meenan, 621 Huxey street, Albert Schreff, 4002A South Grand boulevard, Mrs. Ellen M. Rooney, 2736 Osage street, Mrs. Charlotte Simpson, 429 Miami street.

Additional witnesses were Owen J. Tillay, secretary to the Board of Public Service, George R. Hunsche, vice president of the Title Guaranty Trust Co. and R. F. Hoffman, a real estate dealer.

WOMAN DIES AFTER TURNING ON JETS OF HER GAS STOVE

Fumes Detected by Meter Reader, Who Summons Police to 408 East Second St.

Escaping gas fumes caused Pasco Batisto, a meter reader for the Laclede Gas Light Co. to summon police after he entered the residence at 408 East Second street at 1 p. m. yesterday. The police found Mrs. Lotta A. Burke, 55 years old, a widow, overcome, in front of a gas stove with all jets open. She died at 2:45 p. m. An inquest will be held today.

"Sweet Sixteen"

MISS JOSEPHINE HALEY.

Pretty Miss Josephine Haley, of Vicksburg, Mississippi, who is "sweet sixteen," says, "My complexion's going to be as soft, smooth and lovely when I'm twice sixteen as it is now—just like Mother's! She's been using the light, milky Black and White Cleansing Cream for years, and it's already my standby, too. I never have pimples and blackheads like so many girls my age have."

There's no reason for any mother or daughter's skin being blemished or old looking when the youth-giving and youth-keeping Black and White Cleansing Cream can be had everywhere at the low 50c and 25c prices, easily within reach of all.

Best results come from using Black and White Skin Soap along with the Black and White Beauty Creations.

FAT PEOPLE!

HERE IS SOMETHING REAL

A New Discovery!

A Pleasant Reducing Chewing Gum

which safely takes off fat at the rate of several pounds a week. Nothing to take internally—No Diets—Dangerous Drugs—Exercises.

"Silph" gives lasting relief from excess FAT—brings back your figure to youthful slenderness.

Through a most marvelous recent discovery scientists have been able to incorporate a powerful fat-burning agent into a delicious, refreshing chewing gum called "Silph." In most obstinate cases where everything else seemed to have failed, the above picture of Mrs. N. of Brooklyn shows you what Silph Reducing Gum has done for a woman who had been overburdened with fat for years and years. Today she is back to her normal weight. All she did was to chew Silph Reducing Gum for a few weeks and here is the result. You can do the same—already hundreds are reducing with Silph every day.

The moment you start chewing Silph you feel a wonderful change in your system—stomach and intestinal troubles vanish—no more pain or ache—through the flow of saliva mixed with the gastric juices and those extracts of sea plants, Silph eliminates from your system certain elements which cause fat to accumulate on the body and quickly you can lose all excess weight.

Silph is not a drug, nor a laxative, but a pleasant reducer in candy form. What could be more pleasant than to chew two or three pieces of gum a day and know that your excess fat is gradually and surely going for good.

Silph not only appeals to people already overburdened with excess fat but to those who have a tendency to obesity. It is a wonderful way to prevent FAT to accumulate on the figure—it is harmless and recognized as a wonderful tonic—recommended to men, women and children, not only for reducing, but to do away with all worn out, tired feeling—Silph sells for 50 cents a box, enough for one week at all drug stores. BEWARE of imitations. Silph is the real thing! On sale at all of Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores, Eureka, Penn Drug, Walgreen Drug Co., Krasner Bros., Johnson Bros. or Sp-Sart Bros. Drug Stores.

OCEAN FLIGHT FINISHED WITH ONE PROPELLER

Spanish Plane Lightened After Mishaps During Third Hop Across Atlantic.

By the Associated Press.

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, Feb. 2.—With the knowledge that one of his propellers was damaged, Commander Franco, with his two comrades, Capt. Ruiz de Alda and Hechamietan Rada, decided to continue the flight from the island of Fernando de Noronha to Pernambuco Sunday. The Spanish seaplane successfully completed the flight across the Atlantic, linking Spain and South America, but for many miles on the last section of the third leg there was danger of disaster.

Only yesterday did the fact become known that Commander Franco's posterior propeller had been seriously damaged before the beginning of the flight and that it broke a long distance away from the South American coast. It was possible to lighten the plane by jettisoning all unnecessary baggage, and as swiftly as the forward propeller could carry her the Plus Ultra, keeping close to the water, skimmed through the air to this port. The Spanish aviators are awaiting a new propeller, which is expected within a day or two.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—A message of congratulations has been sent today by Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, to Commander Franco. "We appreciate the difficulties, dangers and obstacles besetting the path of the trail-blazer and admire the aggressive courage of the Spanish aviators who so ably and successfully completed their hazardous mission," he said.

3000 MEMBERS OF APPAREL TRADE BODIES TO MEET HERE

National and State Organizations Arrange Joint Sessions; Convene Tomorrow.

Three organizations of persons connected with the wearing apparel trade will hold conventions here this week with an expected attendance of more than 3000 members. The American Retailers' Association will open a three-day session at Hotel Statler tomorrow. The Missouri Retail Clothiers' and Furnishers' Association and the Men's Apparel Club of Missouri are also to be convened there. The latter organization is a branch of a national organization and is made up of salesmen. Three joint sessions have been scheduled. Fred High of Chicago will address the gathering on "Making Service Pay" and "What Advertising Is Doing to Us and For Us."

Jack Dreyfuss, Cleveland, president of the Men's Apparel Club, will award a prize for the best decorated sample room. An additional cash prize will be given to the best dressed man by the Clothiers' Association, of which Roy C. Bretz of St. Joseph, Mo., is president.

Local manufacturers and wholesalers will entertain the visiting clothiers on Thursday night with a banquet at Hotel Statler roof garden. Among the speakers will be David J. Woodlock, secretary, Retail Credit Men's Association; Harry W. Riehl of the Better Business Bureau; and F. B. Heller, first vice president of the Retail Credit Men's Association.

Man Killed in Mine Shaft.

BENTON, Ill., Feb. 2.—Mine No. 2 of the Bell & Zeller Coal Co. at Zeigler, will be idle several days while the shaft is being repaired because of an accident late Sunday night, when P. D. O'Rourke was killed when the cable broke when the cage was being hoisted.

MITCHELL MAKES BITTER ATTACK ON ARMY AUTOCRATS

Says They Mislead Congress and Cling to Theories of Bow and Arrow Men.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—William Mitchell has resumed as a private citizen the series of broadsides he launched as an army officer against administration of the National Defense, which led to his resignation from the service.

Just a few hours after he was notified yesterday that his resignation was accepted, Mitchell issued a statement attacking the "military bureaucracy" and declaring his intention to take "straight to the people" a realization of "the true condition of our national defense."

This he will attempt to do in a three months' lecture tour of the country. After that he will spend some time at his old home in Wisconsin, with a hunting trip to Africa in prospect during the year.

Reiterating that the United States "remains today unorganized for modern defense" and that "we have no real military air force for the protection of our great country," Mitchell said, "this condition is due to the blind opposition of the regular army and navy bureaucracies that have abdicated to themselves the policy of standing squarely in the way of any progress."

Mitchell plans to deliver his first lecture in New York on Feb. 12 and then speak in New England, the Middle West and Far West. He expects to visit Los Angeles on April 1 and go up the coast to Seattle.

Text of Statement.
The text of the Mitchell statement follows:

"My resignation from the army, effective today, concludes a service of nearly 25 years.
"It began as a private in the First Wisconsin Infantry in 1898 and has been followed through the Spanish War and Cuba, the Philippine insurrection, in Alaska, while building the first telegraph lines and opening up the country, in the San Francisco catastrophe, and along the Mexican border. The first wireless telegraph and the first automobiles in our army were developed in my organizations. My travels and studies have included the military and political systems in the nations of Asia and Europe.
"Command of our air forces in the World War and the privilege of directing the greatest concentration of allied air power ever participating in actual combat was entrusted to me.

"The sinking of the battleships by aircraft projected and completed under my direction has revised and changed all systems of national defense. Hostile navies are no menace to our country if there is adequate air power.

"The flights to Alaska and later around the world, the airplane tests across the continent, which led to the establishment of the air mail, our methods of fighting in the air and the kinds of aircraft to meet our special American conditions, were also initiated under my direction.

"I look back on this record with the greatest pride and with the satisfaction that I have done everything possible for my country. After all these years of service, not one dark spot can be found on my record, and not one act which does not rebound to the credit of the United States.

No Real Air Force.
"The United States remains today unorganized for modern defense. In spite of the expenditure of nearly $100,000,000 for aviation since the war and the loss of scores of our airmen, we have no real military air force for the protection of our great country. We are left hopelessly behind in our civil and commercial aviation and we have no plan or system whatever for furthering and developing this most important agency.

"This condition is due to the blind opposition of the regular army and navy bureaucracies that have abdicated to themselves the policy of standing squarely in the way of any progress, and constantly advocate the theories of the bow and arrow men of a barbarous age.

"Calling to their aid the instrumentalities of propaganda and unbridled control, they have consistently and purposefully misled Congress and the people as to what this country needs to insure its security. They have entrenched themselves behind a bureaucratic system run by self-perpetuating oligarchies. They have manipulated the laws so that they can control the armed forces even against the action of the President himself.

"They have coerced, bulldozed and attempted to ruin patriotic officers who have disagreed with their views and who sought to better the national defense, which the officers and men of the armed services know is necessary.
"Due to military bureaucracies, our land and sea forces, composed of splendid men, are shaken in their conception of duty, lacking in confidence in the army and navy as institutions, and dubious of their own future. The irretrievable losses to our air and sea forces are partly examples of inefficiency and negligence, in spite of the vigorous whitewashing attempted by the army, navy and executive boards. Needed Change Impossible.

"When the actions of the army

Teeth Made White —glorious, gleaming!

Your gums like coral to contrast them—just remove that dingy film, see what happens

Please accept 10-day tube to try

HERE are beautiful teeth for the asking. Those dazzling clear teeth that add so immeasurably to one's personality and natural charm.

Millions have found them in this new way. Dental authorities urge it. In a few days you can work a transformation in your mouth. Dull teeth thus are made to glisten. Gums are firmed and given a healthy, coral color.

Now a test is being offered. Find out what can be done with your teeth, quickly, amazingly. Just mail the coupon.

Film—that's the trouble

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it—a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack and your teeth open to decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, cause pyorrhea.

More brushing won't do

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent—different in formula, action and effect from any other.

Largely on dental advice the world has turned to this method.

Removes that film. Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums to healthy coral tint.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt. Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Hands

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

She Could Never Have Done It With Piles!

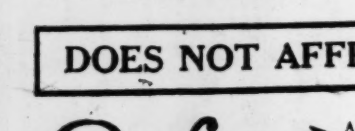

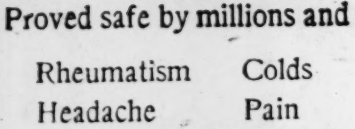

Bless the American girl who has glorified all the sports! She makes a pretty picture in the water, and is a plucky swimmer, too. Piles are unthinkable for active women. If you have them, you ought to know this simple thing to do!

At any hour or moment that you have the least distress or discomfort from piles, use a simple Pyramid pile suppository—and go happily on your way! The worst hemorrhoids, even bleeding and badly protruding piles respond once to the soothing suppository applied in perfect privacy. But bear the name in mind: Pyramid is the one every druggist has, usually the only one he will sell his patrons. Pyramid is marvelous. Why suffer another single half-hour with painful piles?

Situate the box, the world around. But for proof, a free box plainly wrapped will be sent to those who write Pyramid Drug Co., 200 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich. 48859.

and navy are brought into question, they themselves are the sole judges of their shortcomings. "The military bureaucracy, resisting all innovations, has become such that it is impossible to secure any needed changes in the system. The reasons they give are veiled in mystery and secrecy, so as to confuse the public, whereas actually the conditions to be met are simple and public. This is one of the greatest menaces to our free institutions that has ever occurred. The bureaucratic party, as it might be called, in its interworkings in Washington is more powerful than the Democrats and Republicans, more powerful than the influence of any creed or sect or religious order. Our Government has become one of bureaucratic domination. This condition must be stopped.

"Our national defense should be organized into a single department and under it there should be sub-departments for the air forces, the land forces and the sea forces, each with an equal voice and each privileged to present their views without restraint or coercion to a secretary of national defense and to Congress.

"National defense is a single concrete problem for the whole country. It is not an army and navy matter alone. Our defense must not be unionized any more than the police forces of our cities.

Says America Lags. "Every civilized nation in the world has taken these conditions into account and has organized its national defense accordingly. We lag behind due to the blind, ignorant and bigoted opposition of our army and navy.

"In our beloved America, the greatest of all countries, we must adopt a national defense policy founded on our particular needs, based on the abundance of our raw materials, the excellence of our industries and the remarkable intelligence of our people.

"I have the greatest respect and affection for my comrades in the army and navy, with whom I have participated in many campaigns and expeditions, and with my companions in the air service, who are the principle ones we must look to for our security. I shall keep close touch with them in the future.

"However, the administration of our national defense by the bureaucracy, maintained by the Army and Navy oligarchies passes the limit of our national conscience and must be thoroughly overhauled at once. For years I worked to better conditions from within the service.

"The growing opposition to modernization exhibited by the Army and Navy bureaucracies and the inexcusable killing of my comrades in the air forces, sent on propaganda missions to county fairs by non-flying service politicians, made drastic and instant action a necessity.

"Every statement I have made has been supported by good and sufficient evidence. Good has already resulted and much more will follow.

"From now on I feel that I can better serve my country and the flag I love by bringing a realization of the true condition of our national defense straight to the people, than by remaining muzzled in the army.

"I shall always be on hand in case of war or emergency, wherever I am needed."

Crossing Watchman Found Dead. James Asher, 70 years old, of 1519 North Vandewater avenue, a crossing watchman for the Wabash railroad, was found dead on the floor of his watchman's shanty at the Boyle avenue crossing at 2 a. m. today, when the crew of a freight train investigated when they found the crossing gates had not been lowered for the train. Asher's wife is a patient at city hospital. A granddaughter, Mrs. Anna Allen, lives at 1211 Kentucky avenue.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop.

You Can't Comb it Out and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

How I Fooled The Undertaker

"No use sending for his folks. He'll be dead before they get here." William Penn Lodge heard the doctors consign him to the undertaker seven years ago. His case was considered hopeless. But he fought death and won by using physical culture methods. Today a specimen of perfect manhood—he actively directs one of the largest health building classes in the East. His story is an inspiration and encouragement for everyone who has a health problem. Even if you are hale and hearty this thrilling story of a physical comeback made by methods anyone can follow will reward you a thousandfold for the reading.

If You're Fat Reduce or Die

If you are fat you must do one of two things—reduce or die. Hard words but true. Check up for yourself by counting all the fat men and women of your acquaintance who have reached the age of seventy, eighty or ninety years. The answer is zero or nearly so because each swathed in his shroud of fat passed on to the undertaker years and years before his time. Frederick M. Westcott saw the handwriting on the wall. He weighed 234 lbs. He had developed catarrh, rheumatism, short breath and a dislike for exertion. Then he got busy and reduced. Today he weighs 190 and is still reducing. The method he used is simple, sensible and effective. It worked for him. It will work for you. Read his story in his own words in Physical Culture for February.

Tell Me What To Eat

Each month Milo Hastings, great authority on foods, answers a number of important questions regarding cooking for health and health foods. This month he discusses drinking water with meals, mineral salts, steam pressure cookers, the effect of cooking on vitamins, which foods make red blood. Hundreds of thousands read Milo Hastings' articles every month for the practical, common sense knowledge they contain. Why not join them?

OVER-ACTIVE KIDNEYS BACKACHE! TORTURE!

Shumake Quick Relief!

Excessive kidney action is almost sure to cause backache and other tortures. The strongest constitution will break down under the strain of continuously interrupted sleep if the kidneys are not restored to normal activity.

Kidney trouble is nearly always attended by extreme kidney activity which, if corrected, will eliminate all the misery from that source and restore refreshing slumber.

Liquid Shumake is prepared specially for over-activity of the kidneys and relieves kidney weakness by removing the cause of the trouble.

Children affected with excessive kidney action at night should have a dose of Liquid Shumake just before supper time for awhile to correct this annoying disorder. Liquid Shumake is obtainable at all drug stores with full directions.

You are condemned to die. Death may not be staring you in the face, today, but your time is dated.

The condemned murderer has broken a man-made law. He has to pay a man-made penalty. Sometimes it is deserved, but man-made justice often miscarries. Innocent men are frequently punished.

But the laws of the Almighty make no mistake. The date that has been set for your death will ultimately appear. We are all condemned to die just as surely as the murderer in the death cell.

Usually our death is premature by many years. For when we break the laws of life, premature death is the penalty of our sins.

Each human unit is born with a certain amount of vitality. He is allotted a certain number of years of life. Like a marvelous piece of mechanism [an automobile for instance] he is capable of lasting a certain number of years.

A high powered automobile in the hands of a careful chauffeur will be useful many years longer than if it were cared for by one who is ignorant or neglectful.

This marvelous human machine of ours needs even greater care than an automobile. If you are a good human chauffeur; if you know how to feed the human fire box, the stomach; if you know how to keep the human carburetor, the lungs, in proper condition; in other words, if you have the information essential to maintain the human mechanism in perfect repair, and if you fulfil your duty in connection therewith conscientiously and carefully, you are fitted for long life. You can put off your death sentence until the last spark of life goes out.

When is your death sentence to be passed? Just how much life is there in your body? How much death are you harboring in the form of death cells that linger in your tissues and bring disease and death?

Become a regular reader of Physical Culture. Read the absorbing articles showing how others have solved the same health problems which confront you and your family; see how easily you may banish ills of long standing; see how easy it is for you to live out your allotted term.

The February issue of this great health magazine gives an absorbingly interesting account of the Hundred Year Club of Newark, N. J. whose 125 members have set a century as the minimum span of life. The youngest member, a daughter of one of the older members is seventy. Many are in the nineties. It looks as though most of them will reach the hundred mark.

These men and women follow the principles laid down in Physical Culture Magazine. You can do the same and by so doing set back the date of YOUR death many, many years.

How Fasting Made Me Young Again

A moderate fast will make the tissues of a man or woman of forty comparable to those of a boy in his teens. For years Bernarr Macfadden has been pounding this truth home in the face of violent opposition. But now the tide has turned. The medical profession has supplied laboratory proof of the Macfadden teaching. Read the results of the three year investigation of the fast by Chicago University. You can ill afford to miss this information which means so much to every man and woman who values health.

How I Raised 15 Children in A New York Apartment

A family of fifteen normal, healthy children born and raised in a New York apartment! Impossible? Not at all say Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Bolster. They have done it despite every supposed handicap of apartment life. What is more remarkable, only one of the fifteen has ever been ill and that but for a few days' time. Their family is another proof that it is not city living conditions which are to blame for the pitiful smallness of modern families. Whether you have a family yet or not you will be equally interested in the story of this remarkable household and how they have avoided even the petty sicknesses supposed to go hand-in-hand with childhood.

If you have never read Physical Culture Magazine, the time to start is now. The February issue is on the newsstands.

Doctors Have Prescribed It For Over 33 Years

If you feel the need of a good general tonic, it seems but natural to use a tonic which has been and is today being prescribed by thousands of doctors. Physicians for over 33 years have been prescribing Gude's Pepto-Mangan as a quick and efficient tonic. Its prompt tonic power has been abundantly demonstrated by hundreds of careful blood tests at the hands of experts. It is entirely different from the myriads of unscientific preparations and "tonics" which physicians know to be of little practical value.

Prescribe Gude's Pepto-Mangan for yourself TODAY and watch the results. Your druggist has it in both liquid and tablet form.

TWO MEN HELD, AUTO SEIZED BY DRY RAIDERS

U. S. Agents Arrest C. J. Schneider and H. H. Willmann at Inn in County

Two men who said they were Charles J. Schneider of 3308 Shenandoah avenue and Henry H. Willmann of Clayton were arrested last night as bootleggers after they had sped past eight prohibition agents. The agents in two automobiles were driving north in Hall's Ferry road at 8 o'clock when a coach signaled and sped by them. The coach stopped a mile farther on, at Dobbin's Inn, and two men got out and entered the roadhouse. The agents drove up a minute later and entered the place, serving a search warrant. They reported finding quantities of whisky and beer and arrested the bartender, Charles Thoen. Then Agent Toelle looked in the coach. In the tonneau were two paper cartons, each containing 12 pint bottles labeled Hill & Hill whisky, but the labels and revenue stamps were said to be counterfeits.

Willmann and Schneider, who had been in the car, were released on their promise to appear today at the Federal Building. Schneider, according to the agents, said the car was his. The car and its contents were confiscated. When Schneider and Willmann appeared today before Commissioner Atkins they were accompanied by the former's brother, Assistant Circuit Attorney Rudolph Schneider. Willmann is a brother of former Sheriff John Willmann of St. Louis County. Paul Toelle, one of the prohibition agents in the case, formerly served as deputy under Sheriff Willmann.

Following the raid at Dobbin's Inn, the agents had visited the roadhouse of Otto Reinhardt, on Hall's Ferry road. They executed a search warrant, arresting Reinhardt after they found whisky and wine.

The third and last raid of the night was at the saloon of Joe Hobath, on Riverview drive, where under a warrant, whisky, wine and beer were found, and Hobath and his son, Joe Jr., were arrested.

The search warrants had been obtained on affidavits by two of the agents. The agents had been idling around the three places for a week, and were considered good customers until they returned last night as agents.

APPEAL OF DOHENY DENIED

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, yesterday lost his fight in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to prevent cancellation of the Doheny leases in the naval oil reserves in California. A petition seeking reversal of the Court's recent decision in the case was overruled. Counsel for Doheny was given a stay of execution to enable him to prepare an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

The Circuit Court decision stripped the oil magnate of all his rights to naval oil lands in California under the leases and also canceled some $11,000,000 in allowances granted by the trial court for work done at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii and in the California fields under the leases.

Vesuvius Lava Flow Starts Again.
By the Associated Press. NAPLES, Feb. 2.—The activity of Mount Vesuvius, the recent eruption of which was thought to have subsided, became somewhat intensified again last night, with considerable lava flowing over the last slide on the southwest slope of the cone.

BAR ON NEW STATE HIGHWAY SPEED TRIALS IS ADVOCATED

The Automobile Club of Missouri has obtained co-operation of the State Highway Department in opposing speed trials for automobiles on the State Highways, especially route No. 2, the new Kansas City-St. Louis road. Future use of the highways for efforts to set speed records will result in recommendation that the drivers be prosecuted, said Roy P. Britton, president of the club. He expressed the opinion that publication of speed records would be sufficient evidence to convict participants.

The next session of the Legislature will be asked to create a State highway patrol to enforce speed and other traffic laws, and it is possible a more liberal speed law for open country will be requested.

$250,000 Alienation Suit.
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A $250,000 alienation suit has been filed by Cameron E. Wylie, wealthy advertising man, against Lieut. Roger S. Ranshausen, U. S. N., of San Mateo, Cal., and Wylie's mother-in-law, Mrs. Sadie L. Hart. It became known here when Mrs. Hart filed papers to quash service of a summons and complaint against her. Wylie's complaint charges that Mrs. Hart and Ranshausen conspired together to alienate the affections of his wife, Mrs. Constance Carolyn Wylie.

TWO MORE PLANS TO EXPAND CITY BEING PREPARED

One Is Scheme of Judge Hodgdon, for Commission to Control Physical Developments.

F. A. THOMPSON'S PROPOSAL HEARD

Freeholders Meet Without Discussing at Length Any of Nine Projects Presented to It.

With eight proposals for metropolitan expansion in various forms awaiting consideration, the Board of Freeholders, meeting at Clayton courthouse last night, received another plan, and two more schemes are being prepared for submission to it. None of them was discussed at length last night,
and the board, as a body, has not yet given detailed consideration to any of them, although it has only four months of its year of existence.

One proposal being prepared is that of the city members of the board, who have been meeting in vacuo to draft a statement of interests of St. Louis and St. Louis County as one municipality. Details have not been announced.

The other is being drawn by Protective Judge Hodgdon of the county, who plans to ask a county freeholder to introduce it.

Judge Hodgdon's plan would not affect the present governments of city, county or suburbs,
but would unite city and county
as a metropolitan district for purposes of controlling physical development, such as sewers, water supply, parks, zoning, subdivisions and traffic arteries. There would be a metropolitan commission, the members of which would be comparatively small direct tax, but otherwise the taxing system would not be altered. There would be general or local benefit taxes to pay for improvements.

Disproportionate Representation.
Representation on the commission would be disproportionate, for one Commissioner would be elected from the entire city and two from the county, which has far less population. The Commissioners would be paid $10,000 a year each for full-time service. No provision would be made for modernizing the county or reform of the antiquated County Court form of government.

One of the eight old proposals pending before the board was a resolution by Clarence L. Shotwell (county) favoring the principle of a plan like Judge Hodgdon's. It was the only one of the eight not discussed and rejected by the board.
The plan, known as the Shotwell
and Plan Committee on Nov. 5,
all these proposals except Shotwell
were recalled to the whole board, but have not been taken up except, one, on which no action was taken.

F. A. Thompson's Plan.

The new proposal introduced last night was that of Frank A. Thompson (county), which was described at length in the Post-Dispatch a month ago, providing for a metropolitan commission to conduct general government of city and county. By a vote of 14 to 4, the board placed this plan with others
on its unfinished business calendar, to keep it out of committee.
It is a prepared statement, Thompson declared, that a municipality would be a municipality would be impracticable because taxation
could not be on a graduated scale
and it would be unfair to tax farm land the same as city property.

Frederick W. Lehmann (city) opposed that Philadelphia, where
city and county are coterminous,
had solved this problem long ago.
The assessors there, he said, designated the class of property, and one-half the tax rate for city purposes is charged actual farm land and not more than two-thirds of this rate is charged suburban land. The school tax rate is the same for all classifications.

Board Retains Attorney.

The board's payroll was increased by $41,666 a month by appointment of former Judge Albert
D. Norton as assistant District
Attorney on motion of A. E. L. Gardner (county). Gardner explained that the board now needs legal advice
and the 11 lawyer-members did not have time to handle such questions. Norton, who is of the law firm of Carter, Norton & Jones, previously an assistant District Attorney prosecuting the naturalization frauds here more than 20 years ago, was elected to the St.
Louis Court of Appeals as a Republican, became a Progressive candidate for Governor in 1912 and was elected to the Democratic national ticket.

Joseph C. McAttee (county) proposed that the board was paying $2,666 a month each for a statistician and engineer, and he had

CITIZENSHIP IN PALESTINE FOR 100,000 JEWS IS LIKELY

Naturalization Expected as Soon as Legal Machinery Is Provided; Many Russian Refugees.

JERUSALEM, Feb. 2.—Probably 100,000 Jews will become citizens of Palestine as fast as the machinery of naturalization enables them to do so. All who applied in 1922 in Palestine and other parts of the country for naturalization,
as well as others who have lived in the country two of the last three years, are entitled to certificates and passports. Arabs and other natives, who formerly were Ottoman subjects, automatically become citizens. The order directly benefits recent Jewish settlers, including thousands of Russians who possess no passports, their only documents for traveling being refugee certificates.

Since the beginning of the British civil administration in 1920 it is estimated that Jews in Palestine number 150,000. Excepting a relatively small number of Americans, British and Germans, the majority of the nationals are from Eastern European countries.

LEADERS IN WORLD COURT PLEASED BY U. S. APPROVAL

Consider Even Partial Adherence
by Americans to Be Highly Important Gain.

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE POST-DISPATCH FROM THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.
AMSTERDAM, Feb. 2.—News
that the American Senate has approved adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice has met with great satisfaction among the judges of the court, who have just arrived at The Hague for their tenth extraordinary session. This session will deal with the German-Polish controversy regarding expropriation by Poland of certain German industrial enterprises and real estates in Polish Upper Silesia.

Though it is realized that the court does not mean America has been unconditionally won over to the League of Nations, the decision is considered as a highly important step toward "the further internationalization of international law."

The majority of the Dutch papers already have welcomed the United States to The Hague, and the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant
says: "The share that the American union has had in the development of international law has been too great for abstention from collaboration in the court not to have been felt as a painful loss."

ARMY CLAIMS THE CREDIT FOR CRUSHING I. W. W. STRIKE

Gen. Bullard Says Mayor Ole Hanson
of Seattle Did Not Act on His Own Initiative.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Credit given to Mayor Ole Hanson of Seattle, Wash., for crushing the I.
W. W. strike in 1919 belongs at least partly to the War Department, Major-General Robert Lee Bullard, retired, declared in an address before the Government Club yesterday.

Bullard, who is president of the National Security League, said that Mayor Hanson was not acting on his own initiative in meeting the strike crisis, but was advised to do so by a telephone message from Washington.

"I am letting you into a military secret," Bullard said, "when I tell you that Ole Hanson was called up from the office of the Secretary of War in Washington, and told that the army would back him up in whatever steps he undertook."

U. S. ENTRANCE INTO COURT THE RIGHT MOVE, HOUSE SAYS

By the Associated Press.

HOLSTON, Wis., Feb. 2.—America's entrance into the World Court is a mere gesture now, E. M. House told newspaper reporters here yesterday.

"We have no more privileges now than we had before we entered. As a nonmember, we were able to sit in the councils and listen. As members we can do just that thing and nothing more," he said. "Actually, we are little further than we were before."

"But the psychological effect of America's entrance in the World Court will be a great thing," he said. "To the masses of the people it means that we have entered something like the League of Nations. It is a step in that way, and it allows the leaders to release their efforts toward a more active entrance."

"THE INTIMATE PAPERS OF COL. HOUSE" Wilson's Nomination Won, Then Came Feuds of Rival Campaign Managers

Col. House at First Inclined to Side With McCombs, but Further Inquiry at Wilson's Suggestion Convinced Him That McAdoo
Was Right and Victim of Jealousy.

In the second chapter of the "Intimate Papers" printed in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, Col. House told of his plans to secure the nomination of Woodrow Wilson in the Baltimore convention; of the gaining of William J. Bryan into an attitude of friendly neutrality, and of the wire pulling of rival candidates.

House to Wilson.

Beverly, Mass., June 7, 1912.

Dear Gov. Wilson:

In my opinion, everything is being done that should be toward influencing the delegates in your behalf. Plans for organizing them in an efficient and effective force at Baltimore are already under way,
and will be much more potent than anything Mr. — has suggested.

If I see the situation rightly,
there has never been a time when your nomination seemed so probable as now, and if I were you I would move cautiously and do nothing further for the present.

I do not doubt that a large part of your time has been taken up as indeed has Mr. McCombs' and mine, by people giving advice which, if acted upon, would defeat
our ends.

Do you recall what I told you concerning the conversation I had with Mrs. B.? I have a letter this morning from her containing this most significant sentence: "I found
Mr. B. well and quite in accord with the talk we had."

It encourages me to believe that Mr. Clark will never receive that indignified and that you will. It also means that he (Bryan) will not want the nomination unless two Republican tickets are in the field.

Faithfully yours,
E. M. HOUSE.

Gov. Wilson replied in a manner that would have surprised some of his late critics. He not merely thanked House for his advice, but confessed that he stood in need of it, for at first he had been inclined to follow Mr. —'s suggestion.

Not only did he admit he was wrong, but he promised not to act independently in the future.

House to Wilson.

Beverly, Mass., June 20, 1912.

Dear Gov. Wilson:

I am sorry beyond measure that it is my fate not to be able to be at the Baltimore convention. Both my inclination and my deep interest in your success call me there, but I am physically unequal to the effort.

However, I have done everything that I could do up to now to advise and to anticipate every contingency. I have had interviews with many delegates, and some of my warm personal friends on the Texas delegation will be here tomorrow in order to have a final word.

I have told Mr. McCombs of those upon whose advice and loyalty he can lean most heavily, and now I feel that I can do nothing further excepting to send my good wishes.

If Mr. Clark's strength crumbles
on the second and third ballots—
which I hope, may be the case—
then I believe that you will be nominated forthwith; but if, on the other hand, his vote clings to him and he begins to get the uninstructed vote, he may be nominated.

that McAdoo was scarcely to blame at all."

delegation and perhaps no one attending to another delegation of equal importance.

I have suggested that the 40 men from Texas be divided into four units of 10, and each given one of the doubtful Southern states. The same methods should be pursued with New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and other legal delegations. In this way the work becomes effective and good results follow.

I have urged them to make friends with the delegations to which they are assigned, to influence and entertain them in one way and another until the convention is ended. * * *

Faithfully yours,
E. M. HOUSE.

Despair in Convention.

On June 25 Col. House sailed, and on the same day the Democratic convention met at Baltimore.
Clark, originally put forward to break the Wilson movement, soon threw up his hands and did not crumble, as House had hoped, after the first few ballots, and if we may believe Wilson's secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, even McCombs despaired. At this juncture appeared the value of the plans made by House during the winter and spring.

Wilson, first in a small minority, stood first, led by the hand of 40 from Texas. Gradually, as the cause of Underwood appeared hopeless, Wilson began to pick up votes from the delegations of which he was weakened. And at the critical moment the arguments that House had so constantly pressed upon Bryan
during the winter and spring bore fruit. The New York delegation, dominated by Tammany, attacked Wilson and supported Clark with such vigor that Bryan was finally convinced that Wilson must be the right man. His intervention proved decisive, and on the forty-sixth ballot Wilson received the nomination.

Col. House had not yet reached England when the issue was determined.

"I received the notification of the nomination of Wilson by wireless, one day out from Liverpool,"
he wrote. "It was from H. H.
Childers, and read, 'Wilson wins.'
It came at 10 o'clock at night. Dr.
Arthur Hadley, of Yale, and some others were playing cards at the time. I told Hadley that perhaps he would be glad to know that Woodrow Wilson had been nominated at Baltimore. I was sadly mistaken in my supposition that the knowledge of this would give him pleasure, for I never saw a man who evinced less enthusiasm."

Col. House was among those who believed that the result of the split in the Republican party would be certain Democratic victory.
Hence he did not cut short the travels that he had planned for the summer of 1912, which included Sweden, Finland, Russia, as far as Moscow; Germany, France and England.

Opinion of Roosevelt.

"In my opinion," he wrote Wilson, "soon after his return, the greatest asset that we have is the fact that Roosevelt is giving the conservative Republicans, and I have found that my efforts in proselytizing prominent Taft adher-ents have been successful whenever I have been able to show that a vote for 'Taft' is a half vote for Roosevelt."

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 28, 1912.

Dear Gov. Wilson:

I am trying to get our friends to organize properly in Vermont and Maine. It looks to me as if they depended too much upon speechmaking and noisy demonstrations and not enough upon organization.

I have suggested that they get reached House upon his arrival from Europe.

"We landed at Boston," he recorded, "and I hurried to Beverly,
where messengers began to come telling of discord and demoralization at Democratic headquarters.
Those that brought their tales first were adherents of McCombs, and my sympathy was largely with him."

McCombs himself came from the Adirondacks to Boston for a conference with me. He told a story of perfidy that was hardly believable. McAdoo was the ringleader, and he, McCombs, was the victim."

McCombs at Fault.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 2, 1912.
Dear Governor:

McCombs is seriously thinking of resigning, and may do so tomorrow.

There are reasons why his resignation at this time would be a serious blow to the cause. I cannot go into an explanation here, but you would readily understand the reason
if all the facts were before you.

Yours very sincerely,
E. M. HOUSE.

"I returned to New York," wrote Col. House, "as soon as the weather would permit and had a conference with Woodrow Wilson. I asked if he knew of the feud that was go- ing on between McAdoo and Mc- Combs, and I indicated my sym- pathy for McCombs. At that time I knew McAdoo but slightly, having met him but twice. Wilson asked me not to make up my mind about the matter until I had learned the ins and outs of it by personal con- tact at headquarters."

"I afterward learned the wisdom of this advice, for I had not been in New York more than two weeks before I knew that there was another side. Later I found that it was almost wholly McCombs' fault
and that McAdoo was scarcely to blame at all. McCombs was jealous, he was dictatorial. . . .
He was not well enough to attend to the campaign himself, and he could not sit by and allow McAdoo to carry on the work and get a certain amount of newspaper publicity. This latter was particularly galling to McCombs."

Another installment of the "Intimate Papers" will be printed in the Post-Dispatch tomorrow. Besides interesting sidelights on the campaign, there is told how, after the attempt to assassinate Roosevelt, a noted Texas Ranger was brought to accompany Woodrow Wilson as a bodyguard on his speech-making tours.

EX-CROWN PRINCE CENTER OF DOORN HOUSE FESTIVITIES

Wilhelm's Banker Also Treated

DOORN, Holland, Feb. 2.—The festivities at Doorn House consistent upon the celebration of the ex-Kaiser's sixtieth birthday and the arrival yesterday of his son, former Crown Prince Freder-

The evening there was a grand reception, presided over by the ex-Kaiser's sister, Princess Margarete, and driven by the latter's husband, the Prince of Hesse.

This morning Frederick William, in sporting tweeds, went shopping in the village.

Later the ex-Kaiser, with his brother, Prince Henry, went motoring in the direction of Utrecht.
The Crown Prince was at the wheel and drove at great speed. Their machine was followed by a limosine bearing Princess Hermine and the ex-Kaiser's sister, Princess Margarete, and driven by the latter's husband, the Prince of Hesse.

Three of the guests at last evening's reception were treated with particular deference. One was Wilhelm's banker, Herr Mendelssohn, and the two others are believed to have been former high functionaries.

Hylan's Pension $215 a Year.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Board of Estimate has voted an annual pension of $215 to former Mayor Hylan, to be paid during the remainder of his or Mrs. Hylan's life. The award was made in accordance with the city regulations covering pensions to its employees.
Hylan resigned the mayoralty Dec.
31, a few hours before his term expired, thus making his retirement voluntary. This entitled him to a pension.

FAITH EXPRESSED IN LOCARNO PACT

Agreement Called Step Toward Disarmament by Monarch in Speech From Throne.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—King George
at noon today opened the second session of the present Parliament with all the state ceremonial and color which make this event one of the most fascinating of England's pageants. The procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster called for the usual brilliant military display, but, owing to the Court being in half morning for Dowager Queen Alexandra, there was a somewhat more subdued tone in the House of Lords.

The sun poured down on the great crowds which from early morning lined the route and accorded the King and Queen a hearty reception as they passed in their gorgeous state carriage drawn by eight bay horses.

Acting on the advice of his physicians, the Prince of Wales did not participate, the broken collar bone suffered in his recent hunting accident making it impossible for him to don a uniform.

There was the usual competition
among members of the House of Commons for choice seats and Lady Astor, with true American enterprise, was one of the first to enter the House. Mrs. Hilton Phillipson, the former Mabel Russell,
arrived at about the same time.
Two determined members of the House waited at the doors all night to be sure of getting the seats they desired.

In his speech from the throne,
the King expressed belief that the Locarno Security agreement had paved the way for a further step in the direction of arms limitation.
He announced that the British Government was attempting to arrive at a settlement with Turkey on the vexing Mosul question, and rejoiced that his Government had been able to arrive at a debt funding agreement with France.

Asks for Party Co-Operation.
Touching on domestic affairs, he appealed for co-operation from all parties to reduce the widespread unemployment and bring about a return of good trade and prosperity.
"Invitations are being issued to the governments of Belgium, France, Germany and Italy," he said, "to attend a conference in London to consider the possibility of securing an effective international agreement for regulating the hours of labor."

The King pointed out that the improvement in trade and industry at the end of 1924, which it was hoped would decrease unemployment, unfortunately was checked early last year by widespread depression in the coal mining industry. Since autumn of last year signs of a revival of industry had begun to appear, but the growth of confidence upon which a revival depended was being arrested by fear of industrial strife.

Touches on Coal Situation.
Announcing that the result of the commission of inquiry into the coal industry would shortly be published, he continued:

"I am well aware of the difficulties inherent in the whole situation,
but the interests of the nation are paramount and I appeal to all parties to face the future in a spirit of conciliation and fellowship and avoid action which would again
postpone the return of good trade and prosperity for which we have so long hoped."

He announced that the Government had devised a scheme for reorganization of the electrical system and that a bill would be introduced to give effect to these proposals. Agriculture was being seriously considered, proposals for improvement were being formulated and a bill would be presented to enable the extension of small holdings as well as a measure to provide for the marketing of imported agricultural produce and manufactured goods so they may be distinguished from the products of this country, and Empire goods distinguished from those of foreign origin."

Just before the opening the ancient custom of searching the vicinity of parliament as a safeguard against plotters was observed out by "yeomen of the guard," who were attired in quaint uniforms and carried lanterns. They were assisted by modern policemen equipped with electric torches.

U. S. Department of Justice
Agent at San Antonio Uncovers Evidence on Revolutionary Junta.

TELLS OF SCHEME
TO BLOW UP TRAINS

Center of Revolt on American Side of the Border —Officer Answers Refugee's Charge.

By the Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 2.— Uncovering of evidence showing that a revolutionary junta of Mexicans is active here and in conspiracies to overthrow the Calles Government in the republic was announced today by Gus Jones, in charge of the San Antonio office of the Department of Justice.

Jones declared his office had found and turned over to U. S. District Attorney John D. Hartman evidence that this junta was planning the dynamiting of a passenger train, southbound from the border,
for the purpose of showing that a revolution against the Calles administration was in progress.

This evidence was given yesterday to Hartman, who will lay it before the Federal grand jury which convenes here Feb. 15. Indictments charging violation of the neutrality laws will be sought against the leaders of the alleged revolutionary movement.

Denies Refugee's Charge.

Jones refused a statement to the Associated Press giving details in reply to charges made last night by R. Espasa Martinez, one of the Mexican refugee leaders and a De la Huerta sympathizer, that a Department of Justice agent had seized his documents and private correspondence and allowed them to be examined by an agent of the Calles Government. This latter charge was declared by Jones to be "wholly unfounded and scurrilous."

Jones' statement follows:
"On Sept. 10, 1925, there was a meeting held in San Antonio attended by 30 or 35 Mexican revolutionists. They perfected an organization calling itself the 'Revolutionary Junta of San Antonio' and appointed an Executive Committee of five with full authority to act for the junta, the purpose being to use every means possible for the overthrow of the Government of Mexico. Reinaldo Espasa-Martinez was made secretary of the junta."

NEW CONSPIRACY TO UPSET CALLES' POWER IN MEXICO

shire arranged to hold up consideration by the Senate of the new smuggling treaty with Mexico. Steps were taken here to protect Gen. Francisco Coss, a former Major General in the Mexican army, who served under De la Huerta and was the commanding officer of Col. Torres. If possible his deportation will be prevented.

The Mexican authorities are declared to be more anxious to get their hands on Coss than they were to turn a firing squad loose on Torres.

Gen. Coss Arrested. According to telegraphic advices from San Antonio, Mexican secret police in Texas have long expressed a purpose to "get" Gen. Coss. Coss has resided in Texas for several months. He has never before been molested, but a day or two ago was arrested by the immigration authorities at San Antonio.

Gen. Coss, when arrested, was able to post a bond of $500 and gain his liberty pending an appeal to the Department of Justice here.

Additional light was thrown on the Torres' case today, and it applies equally to the case of Gen. Coss. Torres was executed on the charge of holding up a train. He did hold up a military train, under orders of Gen. Coss, and succeeded in scattering the so-called "red battalions" then commanded by President Calles, who fought on Obregon's side.

This particular train moved out of Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, Tex., with troops and a large quantity of arms and ammunition purchased by the Obregon government from the American War Department to help him put down the De la Huerta revolution. Gen. Coss and Col. Torres captured all of the arms and ammunition on the train and shot up a lot of Gen. Calles' troops.

Case of Coss Heard Before Inspector in Secret.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 2.—Gen. Francisco Coss has been given a secret deportation hearing before an immigration inspector here and the record of the proceedings has been sent to Washington. The hearing took place last week.

Attaches of the San Antonio immigration office would say nothing today except that a decision in the case is not expected from Washington for a month. Coss is charged as Torres was, with having overstayed the time limit of his passport. The passport was taken out in El Paso on Sept. 5, 1924. Coss declared, and renewed March 24, 1925.

Mexican Embassy Declares Torres Was Train Robber.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Mexican embassy announced today that Demetrio Torres, the Mexican revolutionist who was executed recently at Torreón, was returned to Mexico by the United States immigration authorities after the Mexican Government had made formal application for his extradition as a train robber.

The embassy denied that Torres' deportation was in any way obtained through irregular means, declaring the United States authorities considered him a dangerous criminal and caused his deportation.

"The Mexican Government," said the embassy's statement which was based on a cablegram from the Mexican Foreign Office, "never made any promises nor came into any agreement regarding the delivery of this criminal."

Refugees Telegraph Protest to President Coolidge.

By the Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 2.—Six Mexican political refugees have telegraphed President Coolidge that the recent deportation of Col. Manuel Demetrio Torres, alias Chaparreras, who was executed at Torreón, Mex., Jan. 10, violated "the elemental principles of international rights."

The telegram stated that local United States immigration officials had been impressed with the danger that Torres would face if deported to Mexico, and with the moral responsibility that "would fall on this nation, which has always been proud of her humanitarian principles, by not aiding a

PASSAGE OF ZONING BILL URGED BY COUNSEL FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Glendy B. Arnold Points Out Tendency in Other States and Expresses Hope Measure Will Be Upheld by Missouri Supreme Court.

Passage of the pending zoning ordinance, as expressing a principle, and in the hope that the State Supreme Court will change its position of two years ago sufficiently to sustain the new measure, was advised in a talk made before the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen, at last night's hearing, by Glendy B. Arnold, counsel for the Chamber of Commerce.

"Zoning," said former Judge Arnold, "is an extension of the nuisance principle, that every man must so use his property as not to injure his neighbor. Particularly, the homes of people of modest means, which they have acquired through years of toil, should be protected against invasion by obnoxious businesses or industries."

As to the Board of Adjustment feature, which has been attacked by opponents of the pending bill, Arnold quoted Edward M. Bassett, a New York legal authority on zoning, as saying that the lack of such a board might make a bill unconstitutional.

Arguments for Adjustment Board. "By establishing a board with the power to make changes," he said, "you avoid the danger of putting the city in a strait-jacket. You do not abdicate your authority as Aldermen, for you can repeal or amend the ordinance at any time. The law, in fact, recognizes such a board as your agent, just as the Public Service Commission and State Highway Commission are agents of the Legislature."

Arnold said he was not in favor of limiting the height of buildings as changes in such limits might later work an injustice on those who obeyed the restrictions.

He said two of the four Judges who held parts of the former law unconstitutional, and two of the three who held otherwise were now on the Supreme Court, with three Judges who have never passed on the matter. City Counselor Muench has advised the committee that the Court will hold the measure unconstitutional if it holds the same views it did in 1923; but he also has pointed out a tendency of courts in other states to uphold such laws.

Others Heard on Measure. Others who spoke on the general principles of the measure at the hearing, the first one of a series to be held by the committee, were former Judge Eugene McQuillin and Charles W. DeLargy, apartment house builder and operator.

McQuillin said that, if the Aldermen believed the sentiment of the community favors the measure, it would be proper for them to pass it, but he urged that the Board of Adjustment feature should be changed, as being a delegation of legislative power to an irresponsible board.

DeLargy attacked the proposed measure in all parts, and much of his argument was directed against the old law, in provisions similar to the pending measure.

Against Any Restrictions. "We were told, before the decision of 1923," he said "of the calamities that would follow the loss of the zoning law. But there was never so much building as there has been since that law was knocked out. They talk about the automobile establishments on Lindell boulevard. What was there before? Vacant lots, with rubbish heaps, weeds and billboards. Who would not prefer places of business to what preceded them? And filling stations—is a modern filling station, served by a uniformed attendant who doesn't expect a tip, a nuisance? If so, where are you going to put it? You and I have to take gas. Every section restricted against business has decreased in value from the day it was laid out."

A speaker from the Southampton section arose to deny this last assertion, and to say that, with restrictions shutting out business places, the value of property has become eight to 10 times what it was.

Jacob L. Babler, as a large owner of property on Lindell boulevard, asked the committee to amend the ordinance so as to permit construction of high-grade office buildings, as well as apartment houses, on Lindell. He said he had been in negotiation with an insurance company which proposed to build a home office, to cost $1,500,000, on Lindell west of Sarah street, and that he knew of two other large insurance companies which would like to put up buildings on Lindell. He said the buildings would be set back to any building line prescribed, and that they would be an ornament to the street and the city.

Some discussion of Lindell boulevard followed, and a bulky petition, said to bear about 5000 signatures, asking the Aldermen to save Lindell from commercial invasion, was presented by Mrs. Oriella Ochsner, who has been working on the matter for a year. The petitioners do not object to undertaking parlors, but to purely commercial establishments, such as the automobile concerns which have located there since the Supreme Court's decision.

The City Central Committee of the League of Women Voters presented a resolution supporting the zoning bill unqualifiedly. The Federation of Improvement Associations presented a similar resolution.

An increase in the practical height limit of buildings on North Grand boulevard, from 100 to 150 feet, is asked by the North Grand Building and Improvement Association, in a memorial presented by A. W. Pauley. Industries on the Oak Hill Railroad asked that the classification be changed from an industrial to an unrestricted one, as are other railroad sections.

At next Monday night's hearing, E. J. Russell, chairman of the City Plan Commission, will speak in explanation of the measure. Alderman Schwartz is chairman of the committee which is conducting the hearings. Besides the seven members of the board were present last night. About 70 persons attended.

WIFE EMBRACES SLAYER OF WOMAN

Tearfully Greets Chiropractor
in Coroner's Office—He Is Held to Grand Jury.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—David L. Marshall, a chiropractor and confessed slayer of Anna May Dietrich, met his wife today for the first time since he was led away from his home by the police telling her, "I will be back in a little while."

The pair met in the private office of Coroner Schwartz prior to the inquest. Marshall is charged with the murder of the 35-year-old milliner and dismembering her body to hide the crime. He choked her to death, he confessed, because she tried to extort money from him under threats she would expose their relations.

Mrs. Marshall preceded her husband to the Coroner's office. A crowd had gathered in the sixth floor corridor of City Hall to see Marshall enter but was kept away from the room. As Marshall passed into the office he saw his wife sitting in a chair.

Embraces Husband.
He stopped with his arms hanging at his sides. Then slowly he advanced and as he approached, Mrs. Marshall arose from her seat, half ran toward him and flung her arms around his neck.

"Oh, David! Oh, David! what have you done?"
Marshall made no reply. He clasped his wife in both arms and his head dropped as she kissed him.

Suddenly she seemed to collapse. Only Marshall's clasp prevented her from falling. A deputy coroner hurried to her side and she was taken to a chair in a dead faint.

Held to Grand Jury.

As Marshall released his embrace he was hurried through the office to the hearing room.

In a few minutes Mrs. Marshall revived sufficiently to follow her husband, who seemed less affected than his wife by the meeting.

Marshall was held without bail by the Coroner to await the action of the grand jury.

Marshall is charged with first-degree murder.

GOV. FERGUSON AND HUSBAND FILE $100,000 LIBEL SUIT

Head of Anti-Saloon League and Newspaper Owners Named Defendants in Texas Court.

By the Associated Press.
BELTON, Tex., Feb. 2.—Atticus Webb of Dallas, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and the American Publishing Co., of Austin are named as defendants in a $100,000 libel suit filed in District Court here by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband, former Gov. James E. Ferguson.

The petition, filed yesterday, alleges that the Austin American Statesman last December published an interview represented as coming from Webb, which criticized the prohibition enforcement policy of the Governor in a manner reflecting on the character and reputation of the plaintiffs. The article, it is alleged, was "malicious in its intent" and caused Gov. Ferguson to suffer "mental anguish, distress and humiliation."

Here is a surgeon's wonderful prescription now dispensed by pharmacists at trifling cost, that will do more toward helping you get rid of unsightly spots and skin diseases than anything you've ever used.

Not only does this great healing antiseptic promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds, but boils, abscesses and ulcers are almost immediately relieved and cleanly healed.

In skin diseases its action is little less than magical. The itching of Eczema is instantly stopped; the eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of barber's itch, salt rheum and other skin eruptions and inflammation.

You can obtain Moore's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any modern drug store. It is safe to use, and failure in any of the ailments noted above is next to impossible. Keiffer Drug Co. or Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores, Johnson Bros. Drug Co. can supply you at any time.

JACK ADAMS FACES WHITE IN "COMEBACK" BOUT AT ARMORY TONIGHT

Purchased His Release From Army to Fight

Former Scott Field Sergeant Trying to Wipe Out Loss to Renault.

TONIGHT'S FIGHT CARD AT ARMORY

MAIN EVENT.
Jack Adams, St. Louis, vs. Joe White, New Orleans, 10 rounds; heavyweight.

SEMI-FINAL BOUT.
Frank Burman, Cleveland, vs. "Kid" Walters, Scott Field, eight rounds; middleweight.

PRELIMINARY FIGHTS.
Bobby Hill vs. Matt Schultz, six rounds; lightweight.
Lawrence Hawkins vs. Kid Brown, four rounds; featherweight.

Jack Adams, formerly of Scott Field, has paid real money for the privilege of preparing himself for a heavyweight boxing career. Whether or not he should good judgment in buying his discharge from the United States Army for the purpose of building himself up as a fighter will probably be determined this evening when Jack meets Joe White, said to be the leading heavyweight scrapper south of the Mason and Dixon line. Adams, as a sergeant of Scott Field, attached to Scott Field, four himself camped for time and facilities for training. In spite of these very essential difficulties, he built up a string of successive victories which led to a match with Jack Renault. The Canadian landed Adams his first serious reverse, scoring a technical knockout in five rounds. But since that bout, nearly two months ago, Adams has almost lived in the Business Men's Gymnasium, where he has worked hard with sparring partners in an effort to remove the weaknesses which he betrayed in his bout with Renault.

Jack Must "About Face."
If Adams knocks over White tonight in the main event of the Business Men's Gymnasium, he will show at the Armory, he may later prove that he was wise in purchasing his discharge from the army. White has a long string of fistic conquests to his credit and has traveled the 10-round course with some of the best known slammers in the heavyweight division. His record includes three bouts with Wild Bill Reed, three with Martin Burke, two with Homer Smith and two with Jack Renault. He then went ten rounds with Renault in one engagement, losing the decision by a shade. The Canadian champion stopped him in the seventh session of a return engagement.

White is built along the same rangy lines as his foe in the tonight's encounter. The southerner has shown excellent footwork, accuracy in timing his punches and a superior knowledge of defense to his sparring exhibitions with Babe McConary, Frank Burman and others who have worked out with him in local training bouts.

Burman Meets Schultz.
Frank Burman and "Kid" Walters, middleweights, are slated to clash in the eight-round semifinal of tonight's show. Burman came here from Cleveland about six months ago and is now making his home in this city. He knocked out Fred Hassen in his first local engagement, two weeks ago. Schultz, who came from Scott Field, where he acquired his fistic technique by serving as a sparring partner for Jack Adams, is a former amateur star of the Sherman Park squad, will oppose Matt Schultz of Johnson City, Ill., in a light eight round bout, billed to go six rounds. Hill, who has had a professional career a short time ago with a kayo victory over Danny Goodman, Schultz has beaten "Pro" Vidal of Scott Field and "Kid" Croupe of Belleville in recent bouts.

Balkline Stars Compete Tonight

Jules Klein will face Frank F. Howard in the third block of the city amateur billiard tournament at Peterson's tonight. Klein defeated E. F. Gibbons last Thursday and Howard lost his first match to Ed Willis. Klein is favored to win tonight but Howard is capable of a good run if he finds himself in stroke. He played far below form in his first match.

Willis will oppose Gibbons Friday evening.

Dr. L. P. Macklin will meet Ed Zanzow in the first block of a city amateur three-cushion championship match at Peterson's tomorrow evening. The second block will be played Thursday. Macklin won the title from Harry Kirk recently. Zanzow, who plays a vigorous, hard-fighting game of billiards, is in good form and he may give Macklin a real argument. The match is 100 points, 50 each night.

Allen Hall made some progress in the National Three-Cushion League race when he split even with Otto Heisel yesterday while Gus Copulos was losing two games to Pierre Maupome. Copulos is hanging on just one shot ahead of Hall in the league standing.

Hall beat Reisel, 50 to 31 in 45 innings, with a high run of 6, but lost, 20 to 50 in 41 innings. Reisel ran 5 and Hall 7.

Loren Murchison Works Out Here For Houben Race

Sprint Champion Believes He Will Turn Tables on His German Thursday.

No detail of preparation that may lead to his expected victory over the German sprinter, Hubert Houben, next Thursday night, at New York, is being left to chance by Loren Murchison, St. Louis, most widely known champion.

Murchison, here on a visit to his parents, yesterday worked out at Washington University Gymnasium with his brother Gerald, preparatory to his coming to fight against the German flyer, who owns three victories over Murchison and Paddock, achieved in Germany.

"I am confident that I will beat Houben decisively at the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden next Thursday," Murchison told a Post-Dispatch representative. "He is favored by the short distances, 50 and 60 yards; he is accustomed to the boards (indoor track) and he is one of the fastest men away from the mark I have ever met."

Browns Obtained Fine Prospect in Win Rallou, Washington Critics Agree

By Denman Thompson.
Of the Washington Star.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The trade whereby Washington obtains Joe Bush and Johnny Tobin from St. Louis in exchange for Tom Zachary and Win Ballou has the hearty approval of Washington fans.

SENATOR adherents are confident that with the championships, where he will feel satisfied, Bush will demonstrate that he still is one of the leading pitchers in the league.

Nothing much is expected of Tobin, although he may make a serious bid for the open job in the local outfield.

Zachary, who has played an "every other year man" since he came to Washington, is due for a good season and if this is the case he should bolster the pitcher's box corps.

Keen observers regret the loss of Tobin, who demonstrated last season that he has great possibilities.

By HEINE MILLER.
Sports Editor, Herald.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The deal bringing Bullet Joe Bush and Johnny Tobin from the Browns to the Grifflins in exchange for Tom Zachary and Win Ballou, is looked upon here with varied emotions. Some fans like it. Others do not.

"If Harris okayed the deal, it is a good one for Washington," is the general view.

Another side of the argument is that Tom Zachary is an off-and-on pitcher. He enjoys one good year alternating with a bad one. They figure he is due in 1926. Ballou showed a world of stuff in his few appearances here, and against the Pirates stepped in like a veteran to halt Bill McKechnie's wrecking crew.

St. Louis is getting a real pitcher in the young Kentuckian.

Tobin's acquisition leaves the fans wondering about the regular outfield. Goslin and Rice are fixtures. The general opinion is that the regular outfield will consist of Goslin, Tobin and Rice.

WASHINGTON VARSITY TEAMS HIT HARD BLOW BY INELIGIBILITY

Athletes Have Left Institution, More to Follow

Standard of Missouri Valley Conference Scholastic Requirements the Cause.

Champion Delivered in One Hour and 38 Minutes.

THREE BASKETEERS LOST

Men, Eligible for Varsity Football Next Fall, Among the Departed.

The semiannual bicentennial of the Missouri Valley Conference has again hit the Washington Varsity teams. The standard of scholastic requirements has been set so high that many of the athletes who have been on the teams for several years are now ineligible. The result is that the teams will be weakened considerably. The basketball team, for example, has lost three of its best players. The football team also has lost several key players. The situation is expected to worsen as more athletes are found to be ineligible.

Passing Grade Raised.

The university has raised the passing grade for the basketball team. This means that players who were previously ineligible are now eligible. The university is expected to raise the grade for other teams as well.

Odds on Suzanne Lenglen Drop From 6-1 to 6-4

Stock of Miss Helen Wills Rises Considerably After Her Easy Victory Over Mile! Canstovlos in Straight Sets, 6-2, 6-2.

By Arno Dosch-Fleuret.

CANNES, Feb. 2.—The stock of Miss Helen Wills, American woman tennis champion, rose considerably in consequence of the manner in which she lifted her second Riviera trophy yesterday in the finals of the Women's Singles in the Gallia tournament, crashing to victory over the young Marseilles Greek girl, Mile. Helene Contostavlos, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. The point score was: Wills 71, Contostavlos 54.

The betting today was more in favor of Miss Wills for the coming match with Mile. Lenglen. The odds were 6-1. However, the odds have now risen to 6-4. The reason for this is the fact that Miss Wills is expected to be in better form than she has been in the past. She has won several matches in a row and is expected to be in better form than she has been in the past.

Cox Likely to Return.

For Saturday's game with the Kansas Aggie Wildcats, White is expected to present a lineup of Stanford and Eckert at forward, Capt. Seago at center, and Cox and Winkler at guard. Cox is reported to have made up his deficiency and will join the varsity in the Aggie contest.

Our Latest Trade.

The mountain labored and delivered a mouse. That seems to cover in effect the fans' opinion of the latest trade of the Browns. In which Bush and Tobin passed on to Washington for Zachary and Ballou.

Brown's followers yesterday were inclined to believe that the local David Harum swapped a paper mark for a kronen. As between Bush and Tobin or Zachary and Ballou, the minds of those interested in getting St. Louis out of the bombproof after 38 years wavered despondently. But such advantage as was gained lies with the Browns. Bush is five years older than Zachary, and Ballou is far younger than Tobin; and whatever fate has in store for the last-named young flinger is in front of him. Tobin is heading down the slope after having crossed the peak.

The trade was the result of a determination by the Browns' owners to be rid of the irreconcilable Bush, rather than of a heartfelt belief that the trade would put the team on the map. At that, there ought to be five good years in Zachary's arm, as Ballou's world's series relief pitching was all that could be wished, he may develop.

The "Old Folks Home."

ALL clubs may feel just as young as they used to be, although they may be aging. The age limit of the ballplayer has been indefinitely extended, in fact.

Collapse Impending.

THERE is nothing to object to in an "old man team" as long as its performances continue youthful, as have those of the Washington veterans.

Time to Wake Up.

DRAWING the line between the amateur and the professional has ceased to be scious. It's a burlesque.

The Big Munney Family.

ANOTHER member of the Munney family is going to cash in on an athletic reputation. He is Monte Munney, a younger brother. Besides Monte there is still another—Wade. Both Monte and Wade played against Washington University during the S. A. T. C. year when Simpson, Conzelmann and Co. won by 20 points to 6 for the Huskers.

Monte and Wade were better players than Wayne ("Big") who was not good enough to make the Valley Conference eleven, first or second, if we recall correctly.

Monte is to take up a boxing career. But, judging from the fact he has been vocalizing for a Lincoln, Neb., radio broadcasting station, his ring experience is likely to be confined to announcing.

Midland Valley Club Votes to Spend $250,000

Improvements Include Addition to Clubhouse, New Caddie House, Driveway and Work on Course.

Members of the Midland Valley Country Club, at a meeting last night, voted favorably on a proposition to expend nearly $250,000 on improvements on the club grounds. Plans approved by a vote of three to one call for enlargement of the clubhouse, construction of a new caddie house, a new driveway and a general re-construction of the golf course.

Many of the greens will be rebuilt and steps will be taken to protect the ditches that run through the grounds, furnishing natural hazards for the golfers. Without such protection, it was pointed out, fairways would be washed away and trees undermined and destroyed.

A report read at the meeting disclosed that the club's tangible assets amounted to $317,000, with indebtedness of only $44,000.

The Finance Committee plan for taking care of the project also was adopted at the meeting last night. The committees which have been working on the project are: Grounds and Building, Charles M.

Another bantam special on Thursday night's card will feature Bruno Klaesner of the south side club and Eddie Burke of Sherman Park Community Center. Tony Firron of Sherman Park is slated to meet Joe Ghonuly of the south side organization in a flyweight special. Seventeen preliminary entries have been received by officials in charge of the tournament. Nine of the prelim candidates are featherweights. They are: Tom Derby, Al Meyer and Walter Rose of the Tower A. C.; Rex Dell and Charles Rich, Red Ball Gymnasium; John Buckley and Walter Winston, South Broadway A. C.; Joe Stein, Mullaphy C. CONSTIPATION WRECKS HEALTH

Get sure, permanent relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Don't let this hideous disease wreck your health with its poisons. Constipation may be the father of more than forty ills and ailments. Yet there is an easy way to relief and health—read Mr. Herman's letter!

"Your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is wonderful. I had been suffering with constipation for thirty years and was all knocked out, hardly able to work. I have been using your ALL-BRAN for six months and I am a well man, feel fine, and as regular as a clock. I don't know how I could live without my bran."

H. T. HERMAN,
Healing Springs, Virginia.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to permanently relieve constipation if regularly eaten, because it is 100% bran. Eat two tablespoonfuls a day—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a delicious ready-to-eat cereal. Serve it with milk or fruit. Use it in cooking. Delicious recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

BONDSMAN'S FATHER DENIES SIGNATURES

M. F. Howard, Negro, Got Papers With Understanding Parent Would Indorse Them.

Investigating the activities of Marion F. Howard, Negro professional bondsman, the Circuit Attorney's office has discovered that several bonds bearing the signature of "Frank Howard," presumably the bondsman's father, were not signed by the elder man. One bond for $10,000 has expired, while those still in effect are for small amounts.

Marion Howard is on Circuit Attorney Sidener's list of "undesirable bondsmen," and Judges have not accepted him as surety in recent months. However, Judge Gayer explained, Howard recently represented that his father, a janitor in Circuit Judge Percy's Court, would sign bonds and he was permitted to take bond papers from the court for his father's signature.

The father declared today that he did not sign the bonds in ques-

"Till go with you—for the ride."

CHAPTER I.

BRANDON'S look of amazement as he recognized Nan seated on the running board of a strange car in a country garage, an hour after midnight, changed to one of grimace.

He climbed down from the driver's seat and without apology to Mona Vail, came over to Nan. The latter was discomfited at his appearance. At any moment, she who had disappeared somewhere in the rear of the garage, might rejoin her and she would have no opportunity to warn him that this was her singing master and that no hint of her cabaret activities must be given to him.

"What on earth are you doing here at this hour, Miss Parraday?" Brandon demanded.

"I was driving with a friend and the car broke down," she explained nervously. "I'll be fixed shortly, though. At least I hope so, because I'm cold and tired."

Brandon cast a glance toward Devitt's car which a mechanic was working casually.

"You've no business driving at night in an open car. It's bad for your throat. Better hop in my machine and let me take you back to town."

Nan hesitated.

"Thank you, but I can't very well leave Mr. Devitt like this. It would hardly be courteous."

"Where is he?" Brandon glanced impatiently about the garage. "I'll explain to him that I think you ought to return with me."

"If I—" Nan was beginning when Devitt came into sight. He was stowing something into his overcoat pocket. At sight of Brandon, his hand dropped abruptly, and he cast a quick, inquiring glance at Nan.

"This is Mr. Devitt," Nan presented him and added stressfully: "My music master—Mr. Brandon."

"Glad to meet you," Devitt extended his hand heartily. "I've heard quite a bit about you from Miss Parraday and seems to me I once heard you sing at a concert."

"Possibly," Louis Brandon's acknowledgment was curt. "I have just been urging Miss Parraday to allow me to drive her back to town in my closed car. It's dangerous to her voice to sit out here in the cold at this hour, and heaven only knows when your car will be ready. These mechanics are like plumbers."

"Right you are," Devitt turned to Nan. "I think you'd better accept Mr. Brandon's offer, Miss Parraday. I don't like to give up your company for the drive back to town, but it will be more comfortable for you in a closed car. Afraid my bus is pretty badly hit this time."

He assisted Nan into Brandon's car, shouldering the latter aside rather rudely. It was as though he wished to give the impression that Nan was his special property. It rather amused Nan—this first intimation of such a thing—and she derived a strange satisfaction which she could not analyze when she saw a white line of anger in Louis Brandon's face and a grim tightening of his lips.

She wondered why it pleased her so much to make him furious. Day by day she was taking more delight in being deliberately capricious and provocative. Perhaps, she thought, it was because his attitude toward the other girls who came to his studio was one of laughing, lazy indifference. Nothing they did ever seemed to ruffle his temper, or disturb his debonaire attitude.

But always with her of late he was frowning, irritable, cold and dignified by turns. Sometimes he treated her with such formality that she could hardly believe she had ever met him before—certainly he had been more friendly and genial at the first lesson. At other times, glancing up suddenly, she caught him looking at her with a strange expression in his eyes, as if he were resenting in his look, disquiet and something else which she could not read.

Just now, in the presence of Devitt, he was plainly downright angry. He closed the door sharply on the rear seat, in which Nan had climbed alone, took his place behind the wheel beside Mona Vail and nodded an abrupt dismissal to Devitt, who stood bareheaded while he drove away.

Devitt had said to Nan in a low voice as he bid her good night: "Tomorrow evening, as usual?" Nan nodded. By the sudden stiffening of Brandon's shoulders she knew that he had overheard and later on the drive home, with Mona Vail silent beside him, he half turned his head and asked: "Are these night drives of yours with that chap a regular habit?"

"We—er, not, entirely," Nan smiled maliciously into the darkness. "But Mr. Devitt is kind enough to take me to ride almost every afternoon and evening. You remember that I have no car since the departure of Mrs. Polinska, and I'm fond of driving."

"You can use my car whenever you wish," he told her irritably. Mona Vail made a movement that Nan interpreted as a protest, but Brandon gave her a sharp sideways glance and she remained silent.

When they were again in town, Brandon drove down a side street and brought the car to a halt in front of the lighted doorway of an apartment house.

"I'll drop you here at home, Mona, and take Miss Parraday uptown." The girl made no movement to alight.

"I'll go with you—for the ride," she answered coolly.

AN ALARMING MESSAGE.

CHAPTER II.

NAN had never known jealousy herself. For that reason she was unable to suspect or gauge the power of the green-eyed monster which actuated Mona Vail. The girl was mad about Brandon. For several years her every thought and action had centered around him. At an affectionate word or glance from him she was as fawning and adoring as a puppy. Indifference from him made her wild and scornful and vindictive. To hide her cruel, inward hurt, while attention from him to another woman drove her to a fury that knew no bounds.

Day after day, night after night, she sat in his studio, alert, watchful, miserable, knowing at heart her lack of power over him, but denying it to herself. She suffered torments when he turned from her to other girls. At such moments the passion of her hatred made her fingers curve convulsively. She told herself that she could endure life with him dead, but not with him loving and belonging to another woman.

It was shortly after the night when Brandon had run across Nan in the country garage and insisted on driving her home—with Mona Vail's self-enforced chaperonage—that he asked the former to come to the studio one evening for the first rehearsal of the series of concerts, at which he was going to present several of his pupils.

Nan had difficulty managing it, without revealing her cabaret engagements, and as it was, she arrived later than any of the others. Brandon greeted her frowningly, displeased apparently at her tardiness.

"I'm so sorry," she apologized, a trifle breathless with her haste. "But I couldn't make it a moment sooner."

"Perhaps your friend Devitt might have excused you from dinner earlier, under the circumstances," was Brandon's sarcastic comment. "Well, you've missed a good bit of the rehearsal. I'll have to ask you to remain after the others have finished and run over a number or so with me."

"Very well," she agreed meekly. Mona Vail was strangely not present that evening, but there was an audience of one, an acquaintance of Brandon's, a stock broker, who sometimes drifted in to listen to the studio work and incidentally to imbibe a bit of the imported stuff which Brandon kept locked in a cabinet and served to favored visitors. His name was Conrad. Nan knew him slightly, but rather disliked him. He had made several attempts to date her up for tea or dinner, but she had always refused.

Tonight, when he heard Brandon ask her to remain after the others left, he seized the opportunity to say: "Then I'll hang around and play chaperone and, if Miss Parraday will permit me, I'll drive her home."

"No need, Con," Brandon told him briefly. "I've arranged to take her home. We'll probably be some time with the rehearsal."

Conrad shrugged like a good loser.

"I get you, old man," he remarked in an aside. "Well, I can't blame you for wanting to make the most of an opportunity. Mona not around, I see," he added slyly.

"Sometimes," it could be said to stand by and let you dream."

The other man chuckled.

"No offense, But—watch out for Mona if you've got your eye on this new, little girl."

He went away, still grinning, and apparently taking his failure good-naturedly. The other had already left and Brandon closed the studio door and came back to Nan at the piano.

She had come directly from the cabaret. Her black satin evening gown set off the warm ivory of her bare arms and shoulders. She had forgotten to remove the scarlet poppy from her dusky hair—it, and her fan of scarlet ostrich plumes were her sole concessions to the brilliant sartorial requirements of a cabaret singer.

Brandon stared down at her for a long moment without speaking. Under his eyes, she felt her color rising, and her lips curved deliciously. She knew he admired her while he disliked her for her indifference.

"Shall we begin?" she suggested innocently.

With an abrupt gesture he turned to the piano and began her accompaniment.

They were hard at work when the telephone rang. Brandon's voice, as he talked over it, was sharp. He spoke staccato sentences, inarticulate to Nan, but when he had replaced the receiver on the hook he turned to her, frowning.

"Quick!" he said, "get your wrap and let's get out of here. That was Conrad who just called me up. He's waiting for the police off to raid the place, claiming there's a woman here alone and liquor. It may be a ruse of Conrad's to get rid of me and see you home himself, but we don't take a chance. Come!"

Personality Study of Rosita Forbes, Noted Jungle Explorer, Reveals That She Is Decidedly Feminine

Slender Woman With Fashionable Gown and Bobbed Head, Does Not Look the Part of the Intrepid Traveler.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

AFTER listening to Rosita Forbes tell of her travels into lands where no white woman had been before, to the tale she told of temples 133 feet long carved out of solid granite and inhabited by religious orders since 3000 years before Christ; of the strange religious rites, marriage customs, uncanny feasts and weird habits in Abyssinia on her most recent expedition "From the Red Sea to the Blue Nile," a woman in the audience at the Town Club that evening appeared with a lecturer with intense purpose in her eye. Remarkably hurriedly how she had been enlightened by the information she had received and how she appreciated the perils the woman explorer must have encountered, she had still, she said, one question to ask.

It was this, spoken in an anxious whisper: "Where did you get your gown?"

Having seen as well as heard this most intrepid young Englishwoman, the question was not so much out of order, for she is as picturesque to look at as she is known to be venturesome in spirit. And, after all, while we may read her own tales of her exploits running in seven or eight magazines at the present time, her personality, only to be discovered in these contacts, in the light of her career, is no less amazing.

A preconceived notion of a woman who has on a number of expeditions invaded most of the strange kingdoms of Africa, of Asia, and the Levant with only a native escort might quite reasonably be a strong-jawed, rough shod Amazon with a determined outlook upon life. Whereas she turns out to be a fragile, lissome figure with a small fashionably bobbed head, wide inquiring eyes and a small mouth habitually wreathed in smiles. The slender figure on this evening was clad in a clinging gown of black lace made in the latest mode by a famous Paris dressmaker whose name she laughingly gave her inquirer.

Her restless feet, and hands and arms kept up a lively accompaniment to changing poses and gestures to a flow of words so distinctly English in their inflections as almost to need an interpreter to an American audience.

In private conversation she is still less like a heroine and more like a modern young woman of the world with every day interests and small talk.

"That's the Reboux hat you have on," she said to Miss Horton, president of the Town Club. "Oh, I am sure it is the same model I tried on in Paris."

And to me "Since a woman reporter in New York told me I was sure to be a disappointment to everybody, I feel I ought to look about for a pistol to thrust in my hair or a dagger for my belt."

A ship news reporter upon first beholding her at the docks exclaimed, "That woman ride camels? Smokes them, you mean?"

My chief knowledge of the Orientals gained from the movies prompted me to ask how attractive a figure could have escaped the advances of amorous sheiks.

Foreign Women Safe.

"A foreign woman is perfectly safe from that sort of thing anywhere in Africa or Asia," she replied. "Nowhere are men more content with their own wives, concubines and slaves. One of them might have made me a respectful offer of marriage, that is, if I had been fat, but as it is they would have had none of me. A black chieftain said to my husband with the usual simplicity of his kind, 'You have married a woman of great intellect. I have no doubt, but my God, she is ugly.' Raisal, the bandit ruler of Morocco, whom I visited and whose biography I wrote, presented me with two heavy gold bracelets and when I slipped them easily over my hands remarked, 'Your hands are made for utility, I see, and not for beauty.'"

"One's person is perfectly safe from coyness," she said, drawing a line across her throat where there is a long scar. "It is only this that one need fear. And I don't tell nor do I write of these dangers."

I was curious to know how she had gained the prize that she had won the high courts as well as into the intimate habitations of people of countries into which other travelers do not venture, and here she assumed an air of mystery and asked me to be discreet.

Her present husband is high in the secret service of the British Government. A brother is employed in the same department of the war office, and she has undertaken a number of delicate missions for and with the backing of her Government, she admitted. Her present friendly relationship with barbarians she claims, however, is due to her knowledge of and sympathy with some of their wrongs, and understanding and respect gained through contact with them. It is known that her interest in the Arabian problem, for instance, is on the side of the Arabian desire for a free Government.

Some Arabs Well Educated.

"Most of the Arabs are an ignorant lot but those of Syria and Palestine, including the women are better educated than ordinary Englishmen and think us horribly uncivilized," she said. "Their philosophy is that everything comes from within. Though upon the material side they seem so backward they are farther advanced than we in the realm of metaphysics. Though outwardly so simple, they will say things that amaze you in their profundity."

With her first husband who fell in the war she learned to travel. "He was an Ishmael, a wanderer. We would perhaps board a ship for Calcutta, change our minds before sailing and wind up in Lapland." Ten years were devoted to studying languages, geography, ethnology, as far as possible at first hand before she undertook one of her important expeditions. In 1911 she began this study and in 1921 undertook the first expedition. She has visited except Tibet and India and those of South America. She has gone in disguise upon diplomatic business through China, Japan, Arabia, has traveled alone from Cairo to the Cape in Africa.

So elaborate is the scale upon which she travels that it usually costs about $25,000 to equip an expedition. For information brought back she has been decorated by numerous geographical societies and in France is the only woman except Mme. Curie who has been invited to address the Sorbonne.

She has traveled on camels, on mule back and afoot over vast stretches of desert sands, up and over mountain ranges and through wilderness of jungle, yet she surprises one by saying that it is only after a lecture tour in our "terribly civilized United States" that she ever feels the weariness that makes her wish to settle down and remain in her pleasant English home.

"This is because in the wilderness one is free," she explains, "while here one is answerable to somebody for every moment of one's time—to the railroad and lecture schedules, to the time of going to press, to incessant demands upon one's time and strength. It is custom and habit that forge shackles and make slaves of us all."

However, when she has rested from this trip she is contemplating another expedition, this time at the behest of a steamship company, a motor trip from west to east through the center of the Dark Continent.

Colored Furs.

It is a new whim of fashion to dye the fur trimmings to match or harmonize with the costume.

One prominent fur house is displaying fox scarfs dyed in pastel colorings in keeping with the strong vogue for pastel shades in costumes. The grayish blue, pale pink and light jade fur scarfs make an attractive showing.

A striking novelty is a white coat with the fox collar and cuffs, half in black and half in white—a novel development in the black and white effects, which are in line for a revival.

DO'S AND DON'TS —For— SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

By NELLIE E. GARDNER.

Piecing Our Puzzles.

WHAT fun it is, for the child, to piece together bit by bit, his picture puzzle of the elephant, the forest scene, or the map of North America!

What fun it should be, for grown-ups, to piece together, by thought and act, the whole fabric of life!

The child must turn, and twist, and fit, and sort the little, weird-shaped sections of card or wood, before he assembles the perfect whole.

The man can expect to do no less in shaping human destiny!

Many times we question the hardships and the delays that inevitably postpone the entire success of every business career. Why did we start to learn printing instead of chemistry, we ask ourselves. Might we not just as well have excelled in grand opera as in stenography?

Perhaps. Fate has a way of dropping most of us into the niches where we belong.

Of course, our first niche need not necessarily be our last. But it ought to be a definite and positive help in attaining the final and mature stature.

Have you acquired the habit of deliberately using every past experience in business toward the ultimate accomplishment? Do you look upon life as a long-distance, relay race, or as a hundred-yard dash?

Every job that you ever hold should, in some way, prepare you for your next.

Every book you read, every play you see, should contribute something to your thought-life that enables you to see values clearly and to judge dispassionately.

Every friendship you foster should develop traits in you that make you more helpful, more loving, and more companionable to all the world.

For no two of us does our picture puzzle assume the same shape. With some, it seems to defy all solution. With others it threatens to make an ugly picture, out of shape, and lacking beauty and harmony.

The sorting of bits depends somewhat upon ourselves. Beauty should be our aim. The beauty of true character and poise.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Norton

The Problem of Nutrition

WE hear a lot these days about being overfed or underfed, and what happens in each case. Some people object to being fed on the system of measurement called calories. The appetites of children are coaxed or restrained, according to their tendencies. However, those who have considered the vitamins a joke are beginning to realize the joke is on them if they overlook their importance.

The alphabetical growth of vitamins is gaining. There are now five letters to their credit. "Vitamin A" is a necessity in aiding children to grow. It is present in butter, milk, egg yolk, cream, cheese, carrots, spinach, lettuce and so on.

Vitamin "B" supplies the factor of stimulation to the appetite, and its lack causes inflammatory nervous troubles. The foods containing this letter are cereals, fruits, nuts, yeast, milk, green plant tissues, liver and so on.

Vitamin "C" is that which prevents scurvy and other like conditions. Citrous fruits, tomatoes and many of the green vegetables contain it.

The lack of Vitamin "D" is frequently the cause of disease, for its presence builds up resistance to disease. Its total lack is responsible for the diseases known among children as rickets.

Scientists are not as well acquainted with "D" as with the others, but in time they will know just where its best points lie.

Vitamins "E" and "F" are still shady in just what they do if present or lacking. But the first three are important enough to get us thinking on the diet question, not only for children but adults as well.

A lot of queer things happen to us if we are undernourished; bad dispositions and inclinations towards criminals acts are laid to this condition. Poorly nourished parents are often those who have defective children. Air, water, sunlight and good food are necessities. If your child is cross and disagreeable, look to his food. If it does not sleep well, and does not grow as it should, look to its food. There are standards nowadays of height, weight and strength, procurable by all, poor as well as prosperous people. Time has passed when people can stay willfully ignorant on these vital points of existence.

It is a duty to study foods and what they mean to human life. It is well to understand the measurements of it in the calory system. It shows the underfed how to pull up and the overfed how to reduce. Medicines in either case will not do the work; it must be through foods that both conditions are met.

Wisely fed people are happy, for they are equipped for the daily battle of existence physically and mentally. Feeding the family is a profession, and we must study if we are to win honors in this line of endeavor.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

The Hanging Line

When hanging a line it should be hung so that the weight comes on the line or the long way of the warp threads are in the wood threads.

Keep Them Dry

After doing a big laundry tub, examine the tub for water. If it is wet, it will collect and be a source of trouble. Get into the pipes and be a source of trouble.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN By HELEN ROWLAND

The Spice of Love.

“O MAN gets ‘cold feet’ so long as he has to keep them MOVING, running after a woman.”

Getting a husband was first a matter of chance, then an exact science—now it's just a game of “Tag! You're it!”

Money never held two hearts together. A husband and wife can part just as violently over a five hundred dollar radio as over a one-made crystal set.

It isn't the few big black lies a man tells that deceive a woman—it's all the little white and pink ones, that are so hard to spot.

When a man feels a wave of remorse about to sweep over him, he shuts his eyes and holds his breath, until it has passed and he safely comes up for air—and another plunge.

Before marriage, the Prince got down on his knees to put on the lady's slipper. After marriage, he probably stood out in the rain and told her to go back upstairs and get on her goloshes.

There is as much difference between courtesy and “manners” as there is between love-making and “necking,” or between a wood-fire and a gas-log.

Marriage is the point at which a girl stops going to the exclusive shops for French lingerie, and begins going to ten-cent stores for kitchen spoons and egg-beaters.

Before you let yourself go, in a love-affair, be sure that the same on your heart have been tested.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST By Aline Michaelis

Justice.

Like truth and love, much beauty lies in these; in hope that shines when all the rest is dark; in faith, whose strength is greater than the seas, whose winds giants out of mortals. These are most lovely things, these men prize; intangible, dearer than the gold which makes the yellow lure before their eyes and the dearest to the friends who hold them. But, best of all, gift still more rare, more precious, who, unheeding rich or poor, comes to refresh with its vital air all men's abodes, the love of obscure. This justice, we proudly praise and sing, which we many times find, offers a loveliness no gems bring, a wealth imparted by no treasure of cream and yew.

Cheese Cake.

Combine one-half cup sugar, one quart cream, three eggs well beaten, a tablespoon lemon juice, a pinch of salt and one cup currants. Pour into a lined with pastry and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F., about 45 minutes).

Waxed Paper.

The secret of being tireless is not to use water on anything. It dries the wax and leaves spots. Use a soft cloth—but no oil or grease. If the room is very warm, use a little gasoline, this may be used. If used for the cleaning of the floor, it will save a lot of water and this.

The Despair of Nanny Meadow Mouse

I hope Dame Fortune, you may spare
The hopelessness of real despair.

—Nanny Meadow Mouse.

NANNY MEADOW MOUSE sat close to the trunk of a tree in Farmer Brown's young orchard and shivered with fright, because in the top of that very tree Spooky the Screech Owl was sitting. She hadn't seen him, but she didn't have to see him to know he was there. She had heard the snap of his bill and that was enough. She was dreadfully frightened, but at the same time she felt reasonably sure that if she kept perfectly still long enough Spooky would fly away without seeing her. There was no reason to despair and Nanny didn't. She knew it was largely a matter of patience.

N. Cady
Nearer, nearer, nearer, come Reddy

So Nanny sat motionless, close against the trunk of the tree, and right up in the top of the tree above her Spooky the Screech Owl sat motionless. The advantage was with Nanny, because she knew that Spooky was there, while Spooky didn't know that she was there. Spooky was thinking about a fat Meadow Mouse dinner and wondering where he could find it; and right down below him that fat Meadow Mouse was perfectly aware of what Spooky was thinking and was doing her best to keep from furnishing him that dinner.

It seemed as if jolly, round, red Mr. Sun hardly had gone to bed behind the purple hills when gentle Mistress Moon flooded all the land with soft light. It was almost as light as day there in the young orchard. After a bit Spooky flew away, but Nanny didn't know it. Like all members of the Owl family, Spooky's wings make no sound when he flies. They are silent wings, and Spooky could pass so close to you as almost to brush your head, but you would hear no sound. It happened that when he left that tree he flew in a direction which made it impossible for Nanny Meadow Mouse to see him; so she supposed he was still in the top of the tree.

By and by she saw something moving on the farther side of the young orchard. At first it

Mouse! If she ran Reddy would see her and Spooky would see her; at least that is what she thought. Of course she could climb that tree and so get out of Reddy's way. But she didn't dare climb the tree, for she thought Spooky was in the top of it, and she would simply be climbing right up to furnish him that dinner he wanted. Do you wonder that Nanny Meadow Mouse was in despair? You know despair means to be without hope. Nanny couldn't see that there was any hope at all. She was sure that Reddy would find her. It was only a question of whether she would rather be a bite for Reddy Fox or a dinner for little Spooky the Screech Owl. Of course, she didn't want to be either.

With eyes popping out of her head, or at least looking as if they would pop out of her head, Nanny watched Reddy come until he was only a short distance from her. Then he sat down with his back to her.

Use Newspapers.

When stitching chiffon, voile, silk or any fabric that pulls, cut strips of newspaper and place one or two underneath the material. After the stitching is done the newspapers can easily be torn out.

Housewives find newspapers useful to spread over the washed floors until they become thoroughly dry and can be stepped on without showing the footprints.

Use newspapers to clean the grease from the frying pan after using it. The paper can be burned or thrown away and it is better for the pan to be cleaned by that method than by washing.

STIX, BAER & FULLER GRAND-LEADER

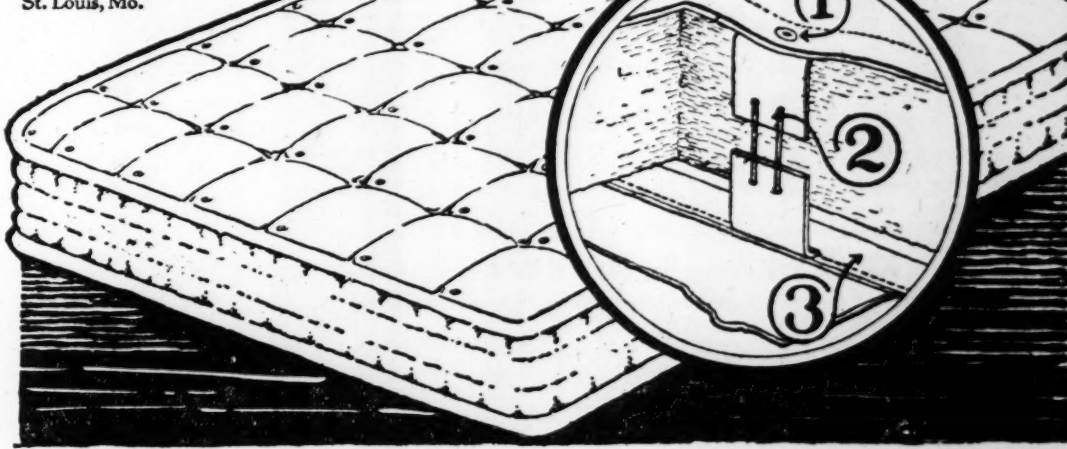

SANOTUF MATTRESS

Lastingly “live”—No tufts outside. Instead, broad tapes inside. (See feature No. 2). The filler can't shift about or lump up. It stays lastingly “live” and resilient.

You can have Sanotuf advantages in the construction you prefer—either cotton felt or spring-filled.

1. 126 perforations to admit air—the Sanotuf breathes—keeps sanitary, fresh and fluffy.
2. Instead of tufts outside—heavy tapes inside. The mattress filling can never shift.
3. Eighteen reinforcing strips. The Sanotuf can never stretch—wears longer.

Illinois Central THE ROAD OF TRAVEL LUXURY

THE SANDMAN JINGLE By LUPTON A. WILKINSON

Travel Dreams.

I'd like to travel

Very far;

I'd like to call

On a shooting star,

And walk the sky

Before I'm old,

And go to the moon

And not grow cold,

And visit the sun

And not get burned.

How wise I'd be

With all I'd learned.

THE THIRD STRING.

THE world, when Albert Edward takes a leader, from center to circumference is shook; But if some one who is 'umble, from 'is 'orse should take a tumble, No notice of the hicnident is took.

Most any day 'e's apt to 'it the 'eather While taking of a 'urdle or a trench; But it shouldn't worry popper If the Prince should come a cropper While the Duke of York is sittin' on the bench.

TOO TRUE.

What the P. of W. needs is a good wife to keep him from getting on his high horse.

"League May Take Up Reservations at Special Session."

Fair enough. But we want to say right now that the home fans should have first call.

Senator Williams was at one time attorney for the Browns. He knows all about league reservations.

Incidentally, we wish to thank the Senator for a copy of his speech. Looks like first division.

When Judge Landis' term as Grand Sachem of Baseball expires, he might get a job with the League of Nations as one of the Judges of the World Court.

The manufacture of between 30,000,000 and 60,000,000 5-cent cigars of a new brand is planned this year by a certain firm. Indicating that the smoke menace is gaining ground.

The original he-man we have heard so much about has turned up at last as the following ad, in a local club organ, will attest:

Advertising Manager—Or agency man: Male; 3 years' experience newspaper agency.

By a decision of the Joint Rules Committee the pitchers will be allowed to use resin this year under the supervision of the umpires. The pitcher, not having enough to do to occupy all his time, has been appointed Keeper of the Resin Bag.

It is thought that the use of resin will enable the pitcher who has gradually been losing his grip to get a firmer hold on the ball and baffle the batter who has been sending him to the shower before he got up a sweat.

In the meantime the fans will be interested in noting how Rogers Hornsby, Kenny Williams and Babe Ruth react to the resin ball.
